Belfast Carnage... Policeman Weeps at Scene

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Police said today the six persons killed and 147 injured in Northern Ireland's second worst bombing incident were victims of a deliberate attempt to lure them to their deaths.

A policeman wept Monday as he surveyed the carnage in a blood-spattered Belfast street littered with the remains of the dead, including a severed head in the gutter, a leg on the sidewalk and a hand in the wreckage of a shop window.

"Oh God... we did it—we did it," the policeman sobbed. "We pushed them towards the bomb. We drove them right into it."

Police said they were duped into herding most of the victims into downtown Donegal Street minutes before the bomb exploded there after hoax calls warned of explosives devices in nearby Church Street.

Amid the horror over the Belfast bombing, another blast ripped the main street of Banbridge, in County Down southwest of the capital, late Monday night. The army said the bomb, in a car parked outside a clothing store, smashed windows of about 60 shops and slightly injured three men passing by, one of them a policeman.

In three discoveries of hidden munitions today, raiding British troops found more than 1,000 rounds of ammunition, three pistols, four radio transmitters, bomb-making equipment and gelignite explosive near the Belfast city cemetery and two derelict houses in Roman Catholic areas today, an army spokesman said. They judged the explosives too dangerous to move and blew them up on the spot.

A police spokesman said the hoax calls "were a deliberate attempt to lure people into a situation where they would be on top of a bomb."

When police and a Belfast newspaper received the calls at 11:45 and 11:52 a.m. they evacuated shoppers and other persons from Church Street and hurried them into adjoining Donegal Street.

As the crowd fled up the narrow street, a green Ford Cortina parked in their midst exploded. Men, women and children were hurled to the ground by the force of the blast. Glass, bricks and timber from wrecked buildings along the 200-yard-long road rained down on them.

Rockets Devastate Cambodian Capital

SAIGON (AP) — Hard fighting raged today for the fourth day at the Long Cheng base in northern Laos, while in Cambodia 200 enemy rockets devastated three sections of Phnom Penh, killed at least 70 persons and wounded 120, according to official estimates.

In South Vietnam, North Vietnamese sappers invaded the big South Vietnamese base at Tay Ninh and killed 13 government troops.

Informed sources in Vientiane, the Laotian capital, said Laotian and Thai forces had recaptured a helicopter pad on the Skyline Ridge overlooking Long Cheng. But North Vietnamese troops holding two other positions in the center of the ridge continued to pound the base in the valley below with heavy mortar barrages.

The North Vietnamese were reported using frontal "human wave" assaults against the entrenched defenders, and American officials in Vientiane said they believed the Communists were suffering heavy losses.

Long Cheng, 78 miles northeast of Vientiane, is considered the most important government base in northern Laos.

The sapper attack at Tay Ninh, 60 miles northwest of Saigon, came before dawn. The sappers slipped in under cover of a rocket and mortar barrage and hurled satchel charges into a militia supply center on the base, killing 13 South Vietnamese soldiers and wounding 14.

At the same time enemy frogmen set off a mine on a ferry nearby, damaging it heavily.

The Tay Ninh base is the headquarters for the drive which 8,000 South Vietnamese troops are making against enemy base areas in eastern Cambodia.

The rocket bombardment of Phnom Penh early today was the heaviest attack on Cambodia's capital since the Vietnam war spread to the neighboring country two years ago.

Many of the casualties were refugees driven from their homes by the war. One entire refugee shanty town was wiped out, and more than 100 huts were leveled.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said there were no American casualties.

Cambodian helicopter gunships patrolled the outskirts of the city after the attack and strafed at least 10 suspected rocket launching sites, all within an eight-mile radius of the center of the city. But there was no report of the results of the counterattack.

A Cambodian military spokesman also reported heavy fighting in the district town of Neuk Leong, 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh on the highway to Saigon. The spokesman said it appeared that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were trying to cut the highway and move westward toward the capital.

In the market area of Tuck Laak, less than a mile southwest of the downtown section, more than 20 rockets started raging fires that spread from house to house.

The flames devastated a three-acre area, and the fire department never arrived. Bodies were scattered about the area.

Court Strikes Down State Residency Law

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court struck down as unconstitutional today any state requirements of a year's residence before a person can vote in an election.

The 6-1 ruling came in a Tennessee test case.

The opinion was written by Justice Thurgood Marshall. In it, the court also invalidated another part of Tennessee law which bars people from voting if they have not lived in their county for three months.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger was the lone dissenter. Justice Harry A. Blackmun concurred in the result but did not join the Marshall opinion.

Justices Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist, who were not on the court when the case was argued, did not participate in the ruling.

Marshall's decision did not rule out residency requirement altogether.

He said "fixing a constitutionally acceptable (waiting) period is surely a matter of degree."

Marshall noted that Congress set 30 days when in 1970 it abolished long term residence requirements as a pre-condition to voting in presidential and vice presidential elections.

The court said it might be true that new residents as a group know less about state and local issues than older residents, "and it is surely true that durational residence requirements will exclude some people from voting who are totally uninformed about election matters."

On Monday, the court agreed to review the controversial Miranda ruling, which requires police to advise a suspect of his constitutional rights before a confession can be used against him in his trial.

The court acted on a petition from the state of Pennsylvania, which called the Miranda decision "an unjust rule that has existed for too long in this nation."

The 1968 Omnibus Crime Control Act, which set down less strict grounds for determination of whether confessions may be used, was the basis for Pennsylvania's contention that the Miranda decision should be reviewed. However, the act only covers federal crimes and crimes committed in the District of Columbia, and does not include such state crimes as murder, robbery and rape.

Search Continues For Jail Escapees

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-five prisoners, including four men charged with murder and four women, escaped from a downtown jail Monday night in civilian clothes. Some fled with pistols, police said.

By early today, the force of 400 policemen assembled to find the escapees had recaptured three of them.

Officials at the Hamilton County jail, on the top floor of the six-story county courthouse, 9:30 p.m. Officials said seven said the prisoners escaped by overpowering guards after a trustee pulled a pistol on a jail officer.

As the prisoners fled, officials said, they seized four pistols and a teargas gun.

Police at one point arrested 30 suspects but only one was identified as an escapee and the others were released.

A taxi driver reported that three escapees forced him to drive them to nearby Dayton, then fled on foot.

The jail, built for about 175 prisoners, housed about 275 when the break occurred at 9:30 p.m. Officials said seven jailers, the normal complement for the hour, were on duty.

Judge Joseph Luebbers of Hamilton County Municipal Court was working in his fifth floor office and was taken hostage briefly before being released unharmed. A custodian in the courthouse and a night watchman were tied up and robbed, but neither was hurt.

Harry Culler, the jail's chief deputy, said the break started when a trustee, William Butts, 28, who faces an armed robbery charge, pulled a .32-caliber pistol on a paraplegic in charge of the jail office. Culler said Butts sold candy from a concession area in the jail.

Inmate Liaison Committee Believed First in State

By CARL GRAHAM

NAPANOCH Inmates at the Eastern New York Correctional Facility here have formed an Inmate Liaison Committee, believed to be the first such action taken at a New York State correctional facility.

The committee is "strictly advisory and has no administrative duties," according to Superintendent Jerome W. Patterson.

By mutual agreement among inmate groups, the 24-man committee is made up of eight blacks, eight whites, and eight Puerto Ricans to insure all groups of adequate representation.

Patterson said that the 24 committee members would act as a contact agency with the inmate population at large and would relay complaints to the administration through a six-man executive board consisting of the general chairman, the vice chairman, the secretary, and three other elected board members.

Membership on the committee is limited to terms of four months each, with elections held three times yearly. The measure is necessary because of the high turnover rate at the Napanoch facility, Patterson said.

Napanoch serves as an overflow facility for the New York City penal system and inmates serve from 90 days to one year there.

If a member of the committee is discharged or transferred during his term of office the runnerup in the previous election will serve in his place until the next election. Meetings are conducted under Robert's Rules of Order, the parliamentary guide used by many organizations to establish conduct procedures.

Although formation of the advisory committee at Napanoch is believed to be the first such action in the New York State Correctional system, inmate advisory committees have been operating in California correctional institutions for several years and have proven worthwhile in giving inmates a voice in making suggestions for administrative changes, Patterson said.

Patterson said that voting machines owned by the Town of Wawarsing had been used in the inmate election of committee members and that it was probably the first time such devices had been used inside the walls. Use of voting machines also provided a lesson in citizenship, Patterson noted, because many inmates were unfamiliar with their use.

Although formation of the advisory committee at Napanoch is believed to be the first such action in the New York State Correctional system, inmate advisory committees have been operating in California correctional institutions for several years and have proven worthwhile in giving inmates a voice in making suggestions for administrative changes, Patterson said.

Special

The committee will handle problems relating to the welfare of the entire inmate population and will not deal with individual complaints, Patterson said.

The executive board held a series of meetings last week to set up a constitution and adopt by-laws. A regular schedule of committee meetings will be set up after the constitution and by-laws have been ratified.

Patterson has the right to deny committee membership to persons who have caused recent chronic disciplinary problems for the administration.

Schermerhorn Cites Opposition to Busing

By LYNN MULVANEY

ALBANY

Calling the forced busing of children "the hottest issue in the country today," State Sen. Richard Schermerhorn, a GOP candidate for the nomination for state senator in Ulster County's new southern 40th senatorial district, promised to oppose busing "legally and physically if I have to."

Lambasting the recently released Fleischmann report on education in New York State with regard to busing, Schermerhorn said he is not letting anyone take over the right to control the destiny of the children.

Special

The father of four daughters, he said he hopes to generate enough support for defeat of the proposal, adding that he hasn't heard of anyone speaking in favor of it.

Stating that the new Fleischmann educational plan will mean larger costs to day's taxpayer than the present program, he suggests that taxing be on gross income rather than on real property. It would be more equitable and would bring the apartment house dwellers in on the financing of education, he said. "But maybe it's too simple."

A strong supporter of the State police, Schermerhorn, an Orange County insurance executive, is moving a bill in the state senate calling for raises for them. But, he adds, even with the raises the State Policemen's pay is "totally inadequate" and he plans to put in a bill next year when the present contract expires to give them an additional $2,000 raise.

Citing the State Police for their patience in waiting for the present raise since last July, Schermerhorn praised them for not taking a job action, not demonstrating but merely, "waiting for what was theirs."

"There are only 3,500 State Policemen in New York State," he explained. "I can't see putting $13 million in the Council of Arts and not supporting our State Police."

Schermerhorn called the police organization "the most efficient law enforcement agency in the U. S."

Pointing again to the $13 million that had been allocated to the Council on Arts, Schermerhorn said "we could open four mental hospitals which we need badly for $15 million . . . I would even go for new taxes to open those hospitals . . . Anyone who disagrees may spend a day with me and I'll take them through the present inadequate facilities."

Born and raised by foster parents in Albany, Schermerhorn, an admitted "golf addict" has also long been in opposition to proposed gun control laws and would like to see the death penalty restored for any non-addicted importers of narcotics. "They alone (the importers) kill more people than those who put a gun to your back . . . They are merchants of misery."

Schermerhorn also feels that a gun control law would not be a deterrent to crime. Criminals will steal guns, he said, adding that anyone who wants a gun for protection or for sport should be able to have one.

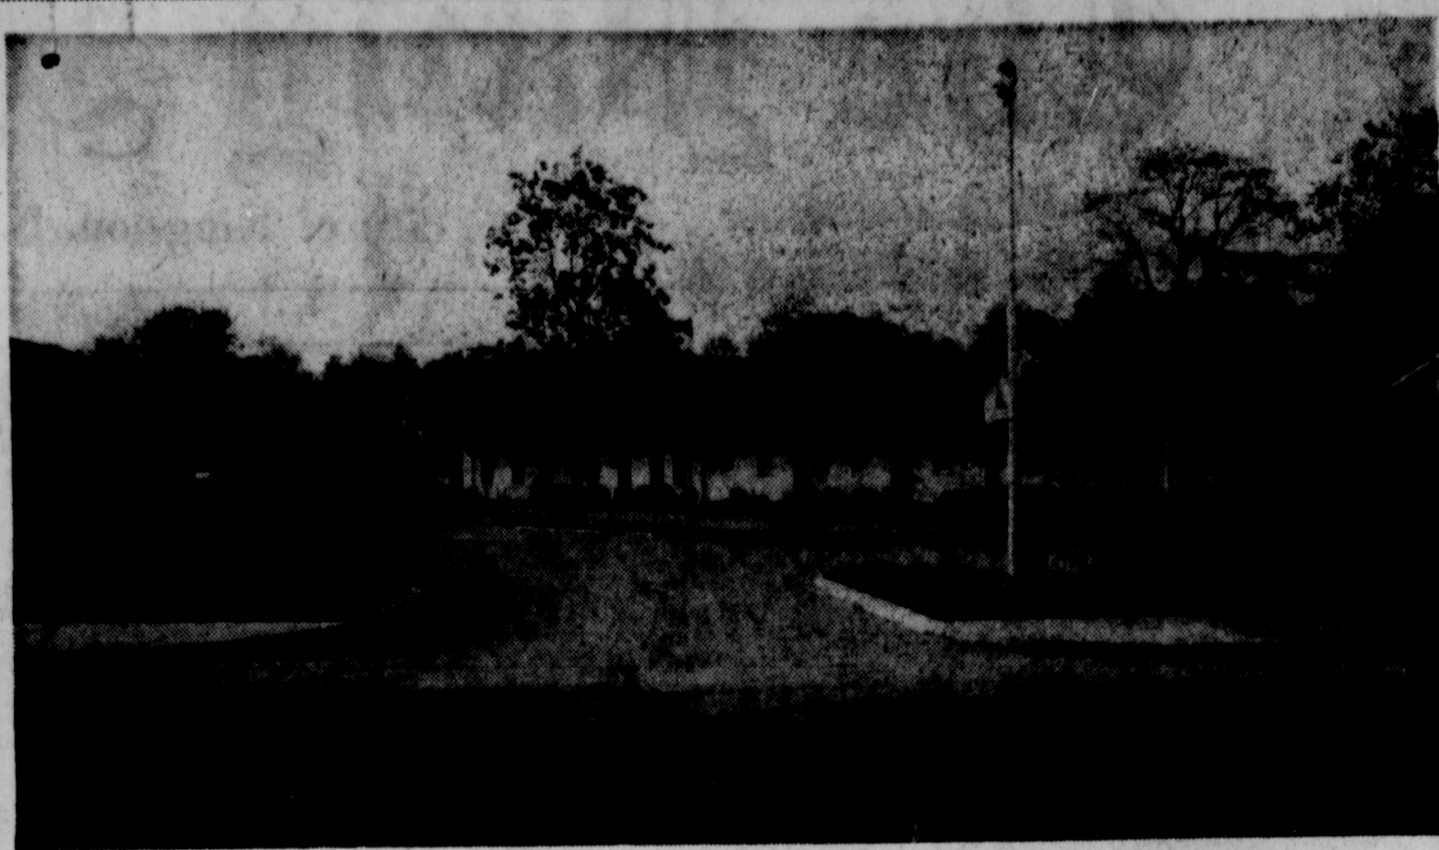

The senator, who has a BS and BA degree in business administration from Bryant College, said he plans to vote against no-fault insurance as introduced. He said that in his opinion the bill is detrimental to the interests of the public and the insurance industry. He explained that it provides the payment of medical expenses and some loss of wages for which the individual gives up his right to be paid for his injuries.

A World War II veteran, he is a former board member of the Chester National Bank, a member of the Advisory Council of the Merchants Group of Insurance Companies and is a member of the Powelton Club of Newburgh. Long active in church affairs, he is a member of the Cornwall Presbyterian Church where he is a Sunday School teacher and is active in youth groups. He has also served as a fund director for the Newburgh Area Cancer Fund Drive and as co-chairman of the Sarah Wells Council of Girl Scout Drives.

He serves on the Commerce and Navigations Committees, Civil Service and Pensions, Insurance and Roads and Public Works committees as well as the Senate Committee on Authorities.

Selection of Jury Begins In Child-Manslaughter Trial

KINGSTON Prosecuting the case is Miss Ellen Donovan, assistant district attorney. The defendant is represented by Charles Sacco, Kingston attorney.

The arrest of the woman was made by Kingston detectives following a lengthy investigation after the death of the defendant's 2-day-old daughter, Elizabeth Ann, according to police.

At the time of the arrest, city authorities said the woman was accused of allegedly hitting the baby's head against a door sill at her home.

Early reports from police noted that an autopsy performed on the infant disclosed death was due to a subdural hemorrhage of the brain.

The woman previously entered a plea of innocent to the manslaughter count.

Area Police Agencies Seeking Youth In Armed Robbery, Holdup Attempt

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

State Police BCI agents and city detectives today combined efforts in an attempt to apprehend a lone gunman who robbed a clerk at a sandwich shop in the Town of Ulster and attempted to rob a woman operator of a grocery store on Greenkill Avenue Monday night.

Investigators from both departments noted that the description of the suspect obtained after both incidents indicated that the same person was involved in the two crimes.

City police reported Mrs. Valma Delevan was alone in the Delevan Grocery store at 117 Greenkill Avenue this city shortly after 6:30 p.m. when a white youth approximately 18 years old, walked in and asked for a pack of cigarettes and a pastry. As Mrs. Delevan went to get the items the youth described as having black hair, reportedly pulled from his pocket an object that appeared to be a small caliber chrome-plated revolver.

The armed man commanded the woman to give him "all of your money."

Mrs. Delevan's screams brought her husband, Edwin, running from the back area of the store where the couple have living quarters. The armed youth fled on foot.

Police were notified and the area was searched but no trace of the suspect was found.

Then at 7:50 p.m., Gary W. Mitchell, a clerk, was working alone at Lou's Astro Submarine Sandwich Shop on Route 9W, Shop-Rite Square, Town of Ulster, when a white youth entered brandishing what appeared to be a small hand gun. The armed man reportedly announced "this is a holdup" and demanded money.

The suspect apparently fled on foot with about $130 in cash that was taken from the cash register, the same manner of escape used in the Greenkill Avenue Grocery store robbery attempt.

State Police at the Hurley Zone headquarters were notified of the robbery and several troopers moved into the area in the vicinity of the sandwich shop and a search for the suspect was started, but the robbery eluded authorities.

Although it was learned that the much-sought youth was about 18, had black hair and was tall, no further description was released by investigators from either police department, although they suspect the robbery and attempted holdup was the work of the same person.

Authorities suspect the hunted armed man may have been involved in other area robberies that are still unsolved. Leading the investigation of the sandwich shop holdup are Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman and Investigators Roger D. Gardner, David Wachtel, and C.T. Searles.

The city incident is being investigated under the direction of Chief Julius Glassman and Detective Lieutenant Charles McCullough.

Both departments are cooperating in the probe.

Debut of 18-Year-Old Voters Slated for Onteora Election

BOICEVILLE

Voters of the Onteora School District, including for the first time, 18-year-old voters, will go to the polls on May 3 to elect three members to the school board.

Registration for new voters is set for April 27 at all the polling places. There are three vacancies on the board; the four-year term of Patrick Dodge, the three-year term of Edward Goddard and the one-year term of Rosalie Sheehan.

The Onteora School Board, which met in regular session Monday night, also set April 19 as the date for the public hearing on the new budget. The school board and the public hearing will be held at the central school in Boiceville.

Representatives of teachers and the administration will be meeting for the first time tonight at the central school with PERB mediator Theodore Gerber. An impasse was declared on March 1 between the school board and the teachers.

The senior class trip has been set for April 7-9 at Brown's Country Club in the Catskills. Senior class officers and their teacher advisors outlined plans for the trip at the board meeting last night.

The board also officially adopted policies on homework and on the sale of obsolete or unusable equipment owned by the school district.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Frank Marlowe is now officially authorized to make public announcement of sales of equipment. Dr. Marlowe said the district will make every effort to sell equipment rather than junking it. The board officially adopted that long-standing (unwritten) policy of the board.

The board also took a position on homework, recommending that a reasonable amount of preparation is necessary for the scholastic growth of students. Formal guidelines will be drawn up by Dr. Marlowe and his staff.

The board also accepted the resignation of a librarian, Mrs. Anita Goldberg, effective Jan. 31, this year.

Joint Board Meeting Planned On Saugerties Library Funding

SAUGERTIES

The Saugerties Village Board will meet jointly with the town board, the Saugerties library board, and the Saugerties district school board on Monday, March 27, to discuss financial support for the library.

Mayor Cornelius Cox said that the town board will be sounded out concerning the possibility of contributing to the support of the library, which at present receives 75 of its funds from the school district and 25 per cent from the village.

The joint meeting of the three boards will be held in the village office beginning at 8 p.m.

Cox also said that the village board is preparing to make its annual spring inspection of the village, and that the schedule for the spring cleanup will be determined after the board has finished its inspection and has made recommendations for items to be covered in the cleanup.

Girl Dies After Fall

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)

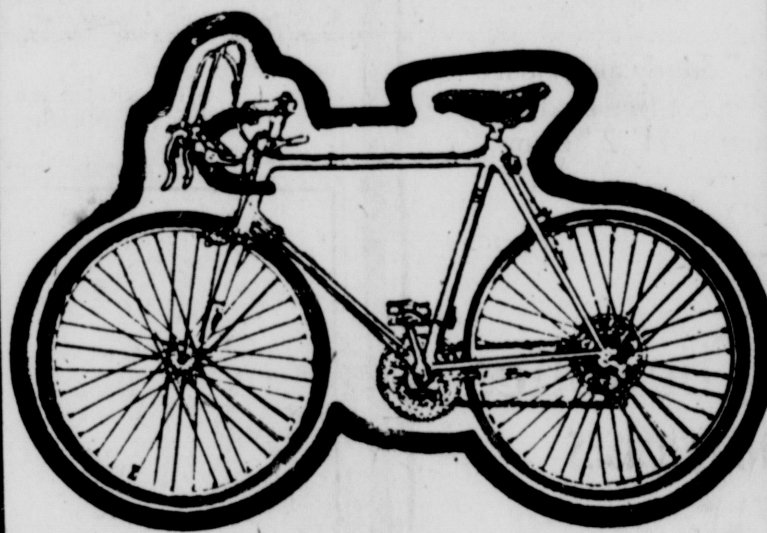

A 16-year-old girl died today at Vassar Brothers Hospital from injuries suffered Monday when she fell 290 feet into a rock quarry while hiking with a friend in Hudson Highlands State Park.

Police identified the girl as Lynn Toohey of Route 9, Cold Spring.

The accident occurred around 5 p.m., and some 100 volunteer firemen with ropes, aided by state police, pulled her out alive several hours later.

Three Enter Innocent Pleas on Drug Chages

Three youths arrested by police over the weekend on narcotics counts, pleaded innocent Monday before City Judge Hubert A. Richter and received adjournments until Wednesday.

The defendants included Ralph Wade, 16, of 375 Delaware Avenue, and Ronald C. Shiels, 19, of 1027 Decker Street. They were arrested Saturday night on charges of criminal possession of dangerous drugs, sixth degree, after police allegedly found them in possession of marijuana.

Shiels also was cited for criminal possession of an implement adapted for administering drugs — a pipe. They were picked up in a wooded area off West O'Reilly Street near the railroad underpass.

The third youth was Jeffrey C. Evans, 18, of 38 Chestnut Street, Poughkeepsie. He was arrested Saturday on a charge of soliciting a ride after police said the youth was hitchhiking on Broadway at Henry Street.

Evans also was charged with criminal possession of a dangerous drug, sixth degree — marijuana, and possessing a narcotic implement, a hashish pipe.

Harrisburg Defense Charges Paid Informer

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The defense charged today that government use of a paid FBI informer in the Harrisburg 7 conspiracy case constituted "provocation, instigation, entrapment and, indeed, crime" and asked for immediate dismissal of the indictment that charges a plot to kidnap White House aide Henry Kissinger.

"The process is not unusual in political cases," said attorney Leonard Boudin in a motion filed with U.S. District Court Judge R. Dixon Herman at the start of the ninth week of the trial.

Oral argument was scheduled this morning with the jury of nine women and three men out of the courtroom.

The motion came as the government was ready to wrap up its case with only four witnesses left. It already has put on 56.

Antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and six codefendants are accused of conspiring to kidnap Kissinger, blow up the tunnel system, and vandalize draft boards around the country to show their dissatisfaction with the Vietnam war.

Boudin attacked as "illegal and unconstitutional" the employment by the FBI of informer Boyd Douglas Jr., while he was imprisoned in 1970 with Berrigan at the Lewisburg (Pa.) Penitentiary. Douglas is the government's chief witness.

"Douglas is a man who has a long criminal record of violence and fraud, and a similar record of fraud in his personal relationships with everyone he has met," Boudin said.

"The FBI used this man, knowing how weak, pliable, and dishonest an instrument he was, in an effort to create and provoke crime."

Monday's testimony concentrated on the alleged tunnel project, an tried to link more defendants directly to the Washington scene. Up to now, only Douglas placed some of them there.

Man Injured In Mishap

SAUGERTIES

Craig Guthrie, 20, of 90 West Bridge Street, Saugerties, was injured shortly after 7:40 a.m. today when his car went out of control on King's Highway north of the Ferroxcube Corp. of America, and rolled over.

Guthrie was taken to Kingston Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance Service. He sustained injuries of the back and legs. According to reports passing motorists stopped, righted the vehicle and assisted the operator from the car.

Hurley State Police investigated.

John Millard, 21, Warren, R.I., a former Catholic University student now at Boston University, reported that the Rev. Joseph Wenderoth, another defendant, told him that he and Berrigan, disguised as workmen, had secretly inspected a tunnel. This allegedly occurred early in April, 1970, and was similar to testimony Douglas gave, also quoting Wenderoth.

Berrigan was arrested April 21, 1970. He was then a fugitive from a six-year prison term for destroying draft files, which he is still serving.

Douglas met Berrigan while serving a prison term on a bad check charge.

City Burglary Investigated

A burglary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory T. Gregor at 62 Marius Street is under investigation today by detectives.

According to police a jewel box was discovered missing Monday from a dresser in the bedroom of the couple's daughter. Later Gregor noticed a bathroom window on the second floor which was accessible from the roof of the attached garage was open.

The box contained costume jewelry and a gold ring with four diamond chips valued at $75.

Fire Districts Meeting Set

MT. MARION

Town boards of the Town of Ulster and Town of Saugerties will hold a joint public hearing on Thursday, March 30, to consider a petition to dissolve the Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Protection District and create two separate districts.

If approved, the measure would divide the existing district along town lines, with the new Mt. Marion district lying entirely within the Town of Saugerties and Ruby within the Town of Ulster.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Mt. Marion School.

Drive Planned

The Ulster County Young Marines, Co. A, is currently going door to door in full uniform in a drive to help finance their upcoming trip to California this August. They are conducting their solicitation in Kingston and the surrounding area, and will do so until April 10 when all tickets must be returned for the Young Marines meeting.

Local Deaths

William C. Prull

William C. Prull of 24 Van Buren Street, died at his residence this morning following a lengthy illness. Mr. Prull was a native and lifelong resident of Kingston and was a son of the late Charles W. and Mary Prull. Alaska Governor Confident Pipeline Will Survive Court Test

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Gov. William Egan of Alaska says the Interior Department's statement on the environmental impact of proposed oil pipelines through his state probably will be sufficient for the department to grant a right-of-way permit for the line within 45 days.

But three environmental groups that obtained a court injunction more than a year ago holding up issuance of the permit now say they will demand public hearings on the statement.

Interior Undersecretary William T. Pecora says hearings would be a circus and "would interfere with a more thoughtful and rational analysis." Hearings were held last year after a preliminary environmental statement was issued.

The nine-volume impact statement released Monday was ordered by a federal court after the environmental groups demanded that Interior study the proposed line that would run nearly 800 miles across Alaska from the oil-rich Prudhoe Bay on the North Slope to an ice-free tanker port at Valdez to the south.

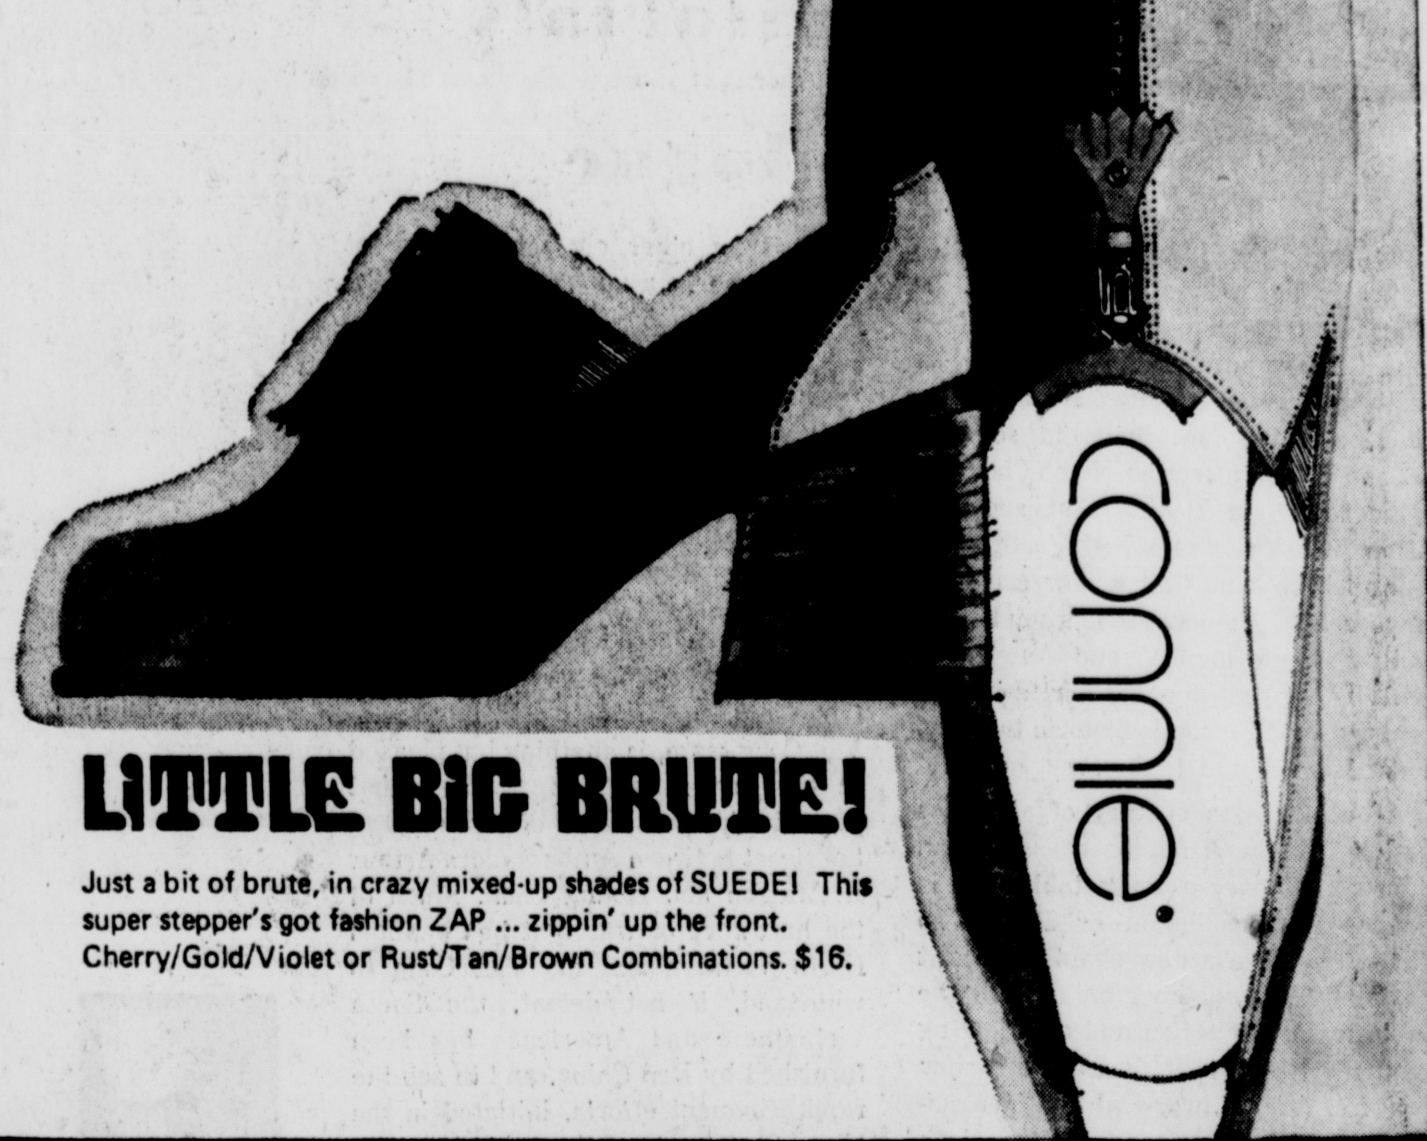

Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., a consortium of seven oil companies, is seeking permission to build the line.

The impact statement considered the Alyeska proposal as one of five possible pipeline routes leading to Alaskan ports and four trans-Canada land routes that would eliminate the need for tankers to carry the oil to the U.S. West Coast.

Egan, speaking at an impromptu news conference in Juneau Monday, said no specific route or system other than the Alaskan overland route had been analyzed and that no specific proposal for a trans-Canada route had been submitted to the Interior Department.

Dissension on the Pay Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — A majority of the five labor members on President Nixon's Pay Board reportedly is on the brink of quitting the board to protest White House wage-price regulations.

"We're closer to walking off the Pay Board than at any time since Phase 2 began," said one high source in the AFL-CIO, which has three members on the labor-industry-public board.

One Pay Board member, President Floyd Smith of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, said he is ready to vote at a labor summit meeting Wednesday to walk off the board.

A high source in the United Auto Workers said, however, that his union isn't ready to give up its seat on the Pay Board, and the Teamsters union also is reported reluctant to quit.

Price Commission Promises Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tentative Price Commission study indicates that many large firms may have to roll back prices because they have illegally increased their profit margins.

Officials say an initial sampling of quarterly reports filed by about 160 large firms shows that roughly 10 per cent appear to have increased their profit margins.

Unless these apparent increases are due to arithmetical errors or seasonal profit variations, they violate commission guidelines. The rules say generally that prices may rise to offset increased costs, but not so much as to raise profit margins above the average for the best two of the preceding three fiscal years.

"If it's illegal we'll initiate some rollback price actions," commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson said in an interview. "The staff is studying that right now."

Patrolman Charged With Murder

WILLIAM PHILLIPS

NEW YORK (UPI)—A suspended patrolman who told the Knapp Commission late last year there was widespread corruption in the police department pleaded not guilty Monday to two murder counts.

William Phillips, 40, a star witness for the commission, was charged with the murders of Christmas Eve 1968, of alleged pimp James Smith, 50 and Smith's girl friend, Sharon Trango, 18, an insurance clerk from Bloomfield, N.J.

The killings occurred in Smith's 11th floor apartment on East 57th Street. Also shot at the time was Charles Gonzalez, 42, who subsequently recovered. Phillips was indicted for attempted murder in the Gonzalez shooting.

Chilean Conspiracy by ITT

Jack Anderson Says

WASHINGTON — Secret documents which escape shredding by International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT) show that the company maneuvered at the highest levels to stop the 1970 election of leftist Chilean President Salvador Allende.

The papers reveal that ITT dealt regularly with the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and, at one point, considered triggering a military coup to head off Allende's election.

These documents portray ITT as a virtual corporate nation in itself with vast international holdings, access to Washington's highest officials, its own intelligence apparatus and even its own classification system. The papers bear a variety of security labels, including "Confidential," "Secret," "Personal" and "Confidential." The originals, presumably, were shredded along with the "many sacks" of documents that ITT has now admitted destroying to keep them out of our hands. Nevertheless, we have obtained copies. They show that ITT officials were in close touch with William V. Broe, who was then director of the Latin American division of the CIA's Clandestine Services. They were plotting together to create economic chaos in Chile, hoping this would cause the Chilean army to pull a coup that would block Allende from coming to power.

ITT-CIA Ties

ITT Director John McCone, himself a former CIA head, played a role in the bizarre plot. He received a confidential report on October 9, 1970, from William Merriam, the vice president in charge of ITT's Washington office.

"Today I had lunch with our contact at the McLean agency (CIA), and I summarize for you the results of our conversation," wrote Merriam. "He is still very, very pessimistic about defeating Allende when the congressional vote takes place on October 24."

"Approaches continue to be made to select members of the Armed Forces in an attempt to have them lead some sort of uprising—no success to date."

"Practically no progress has been made in trying to get American business to cooperate in some way so as to bring on economic chaos. GM and Ford, for example, say that they have too much inventory on hand in Chile to take any chances and that they keep hoping that everything will work out all right."

"Also, the Bank of America had agreed to close its doors in Santiago but each day keeps postponing the inevitable. According to my source, we must continue to keep the pressure on business."

The plot to bring about a military coup by applying economic pressure is spelled out in a confidential telex, dated September 29, 1970, to ITT's President Harold S. Genesen from one of his vice presidents, E. J. Gerrity. Here is Gerrity's description of the plot:

Details of Plot

- "1. Banks should not renew credit or should delay in doing so."
 - "2. Companies should drag their feet in sending money, making deliveries, in shipping spare parts, etc."
 - "3. Savings and loan companies there are in trouble. If pressure were applied, they would have to shut their doors, thereby creating pressure."
 - "4. We should withdraw all technical help and should not promise any technical assistance in the future. Companies in a position to do so should close their doors."
 - "5. A list of companies was provided, and it was suggested that we approach them as indicated. I was told that of all the companies involved, ours alone had been responsive and understood the problem. The visitor (evidently the CIA's William Broe) added that money was not a problem. He indicated that certain steps were being taken but that he was looking for additional help aimed at inducing economic collapse."
- Next day, Gerrity sent a memo to ITT's Washington office telling of advice from an anti-Allende source in Chile to "keep cool, don't rock the boat, we are making progress."
- "This is in direct contrast to what Broe recommended," the memo says. "I will call you later to discuss HSG's (ITT President Harold S. Genesen) reaction to my telex in some detail. He agrees with me that Broe's suggestions are not workable. However, he suggests that we be very discreet in handling Broe."
- We will publish further details about this bizarre CIA-ITT conspiracy in a future column.

Footnote: A CIA spokesman would make no comment, refused even to acknowledge Broe's identity. We had to verify this from other inside sources. At this writing, ITT hasn't responded to our questions.

Nixon on Busing

WASHINGTON — President Nixon picked an opportune time to make public his recommendations on the subjects of school-busing and improving education in America. Just after the Florida primary, in which forced busing was strongly opposed in a "straw vote," Mr. Nixon presented to Congress a comprehensive plan to restrain court-order busing while raising the quality of education in the schools of the nation and making equal educational opportunity available to all children without regard to race. He wants the problem treated on a national and not just a regional basis.

The President proposes that efforts be concentrated on bringing inner-city schools up to the levels of suburban schools, with $2.5 billion in federal funds to be spent for this purpose next year. And further appropriations annually. The state and city governments would receive the money to help provide poverty areas with the same high quality of education as is offered now in the best schools.

Mr. Nixon, in his message to Congress, has asked for legislation requiring that all further court orders on busing be suspended for a period while other remedies to assure equal educational opportunities are tried. The President is well aware of the unpopularity of busing, and said in his speech to the nation by radio and television:

"Many have invested their life's savings in a home in a neighborhood they chose because it had good schools. They do not want their children bused across the city to an inferior school just to meet some social planner's concept of what is considered to be the correct racial balance—or what is called progressive social policy."

"The great majority of Americans, white and black, feel strongly that the busing of school children away from their own neighborhoods for the purpose of achieving racial-balance is wrong."

The President feels that a constitutional amendment should be considered but that this would not solve the immediate problem because the process would take too long. He believes that Congress can deal with it by legislation and by the appropriation of funds to improve the quality of education in the schools. The question of the extent to which Congress can restrict the authority of the courts has long been discussed, and there is no precedent which gives a definite answer that might apply in this instance.

President Nixon's plan would limit the courts in prescribing methods of enforcing equal education under the Fourteenth Amendment but would still retain the objective of nondiscrimination in the schools. He thinks that Congress can impose a temporary freeze on new busing orders while it considers alternative means of assuring Fourteenth Amendment rights. He wants the freeze to be effective immediately and remain in operation until July 1, 1973, or until appropriate legislation is passed.

From a political viewpoint, the President was wise in waiting until after the Florida primary had taken place before making known his recommendations on busing. In a sense, the campaign in Florida emphasized the importance of the issue and persuaded Mr. Nixon to announce promptly the details of the plan he had been working on for some weeks. It was an ideal occasion to explain his position on busing to the American people.

Mr. Nixon's proposals will draw attacks from both sides but probably will gain him votes. Busing is a well-known issue and has been discussed in lots of households ever since the courts began to order it on a wide scale in various parts of the country.

The President had been spending most of his time recently on foreign-policy matters. Now he is beginning to give attention to domestic questions, but he may not be making many important declarations of policy before he has completed his trip to Moscow in May.

Preparations are being made for an active campaign after the Democratic convention has been held in early July. Mr. Nixon is the kind of man who doesn't hesitate to make speeches and carry on a vigorous fight against his opposition. The handling of the busing question is an example of his willingness to tackle an issue and propose in detail a solution.

Paris Dialogue

It would be impolitic to read too much in the way of optimism into the Paris conversations between the U. S. and Chinese ambassadors, but the fact that they have already held a discussion, and the fact they did so such a short time after the Nixon-Chou announcement in Peking that such an effort was contemplated justifies a glimmer of hope that a new era may have begun. The longest journey begins with a single step — and Americans will be looking for further evidence that President Nixon's historic trip was indeed worth the taking.

A quarter of a century of aloofness and hostility will not be erased in an hour's chat over a Paris table, nor is anyone in Washington or Peking so suggesting. But a new chapter is most certainly evolving, beginning with the table tennis invitation and culminating with the Nixon visit. It will be a slow process, for the practical and ideological differences between the two nations are many and deep. But a beginning has been made, and with surprising alacrity.

The Paris dialogue requires perspective. First, the agenda centers on "lower level" problems—trade, sports, culture, journalism, science, technology. These get-togethers will be supplemented by other contacts, maybe at Warsaw where a measure of U. S.-Red China communications has been held for many years, maybe at the United Nations. But they are a sign of a thaw, despite the thorny complications posed by Taiwan and the Vietnam war.

Ironically, in the very city where the new dialogue has begun, the peace talks aimed at a resolution of Vietnam have been going badly, and that's a symptom of the ramifications of the new Peking-Washington move toward friendship. Red China's ally, the Hanoi-Viet Cong team, is anything but pleased at the "cher ami" atmosphere that prevails just a short distance down the street between Ambassadors Arthur K. Watson and Huang Chen. Much of the hardware of war that has enabled North Vietnam and the Viet Cong to withstand, if not defeat, the South Vietnamese and Americans has been furnished by Red China, and to see the rapprochement efforts, initiated in the Nixon-Chou get-together, now taking tangible form so close is galling to the Hanoi "peace" delegation in Paris.

That the Nixon diplomatic offensive but the genuine progress that would be bearing fruit so early is a good sign, mark a meaningful and solidly based Washington-Peking relationship is still in a vague and distant future.

Women Lawyers

The American Bar Association had made the gloomy prediction that the nation's law schools might graduate twice as many students as there are jobs. Columbia University Law School Dean Michael Sovern says those gloomy predictions are here today, adding that there is an increased hiring of women lawyers, and a decreased hiring of blacks.

The reasons probably include a bit of "tokenism," Dean Sovern hazarded. Some firms now want to hire a "house woman," and that some have hired their "house blacks" in recent years and need no more. The barriers for women lawyers "at least at entry" in a firm are just breaking down. As for black students, Dean Sovern said the school has begun an intensive effort to place them.

Law firms respond to public opinion, just as business does in general. The civil rights movement developed black lawyers and places for them in big firms, as well as openings in their own communities and with their own people. Many wanted it that way, especially the activists.

Now, Women's Lib and other forms of the women's movement, has again called attention to a new need. Women lawyers are getting the call.

Not that women and blacks cannot stand on their own merits. But it seems to take a social development to focus attention on newcomers in the profession.

Martin Nolan Says

National Primary Has Drawbacks

WASHINGTON—A Chicken Little chorus is clearing its throat these days, glancing at the presidential primaries and shouting, "There MUST be a better way."

Sen. Mike Mansfield and George Aiken have proposed a national primary, a scheme that's skippy on details maybe because it's too cumbersome a burden for the average voter.

Should there be one free-for-all primary that George Wallace would find attractive? Or should there be a runoff of the top two finishers?

Two national primaries plus a final election equals three trips to the voting booth, which is a cheapening of the ceremony's sanctity, not to mention a nationwide epidemic of boredom.

But those dangers pale before the possibilities that the primaries will become vast television shows, with almost no human contact between voters and their would-be leaders.

Instead of studying specific economic ailments of various states, instead of focusing on issues, candidates instead will be examining the techniques that made Johnny Carson and Captain Kangaroo what they are today.

Lord knows candidates would rather deal with problems from an air-conditioned studio than trudge through shopping centers and stand vigil at cold factory gates, but the candidates are supposed to serve the people, aren't they? Isn't political system designed to serve the greatest good for the greatest number?

The antiprimaries sentiment stems from sympathy for the front-runner, Sen. Edmund Muskie. His gripes, at the "marathon" he must run have been reinforced by those who would also like to see a quick, clean decision made.

Indeed, the proliferation of primaries is hurting the Muskie campaign financially and from a moral standpoint.

But consider what adversity is doing for his campaign. He is finding out how many of his loyalists are in the business for Muskie's cause or for their own purposes. He may also be finding out just how overstaffed a campaign can be, how Parkinson's law can mean gross overpopulation in campaign headquarters.

So fewer advance men can rent fewer helicopters and fewer television commercials will clutter the airwaves. That's bad?

The huge number of primaries is a cyclical thing in American politics. Florida's legislative leaders wanted to prove how "national" their state had become. Gov. Wallace helped prove that much of the state was still a regional watermelon patch, so there may be sentiment for scrapping that primary.

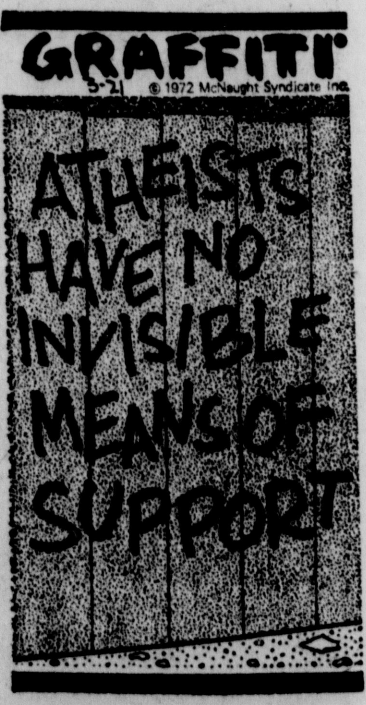

After party fracasses in other states this year, the number of primaries may be reduced by 1976. But that's how politics works, on a year-to-year ad hoc basis, not according to principles chisled in marble.

This year, more than 2,000 delegates will have been chosen in open primaries before the Democratic National Convention. Outside of Cook County Illinois, these delegates will be committed for the most part to a specific candidate.

Someone in the list of candidates will be first, someone will have more votes than the others. By the time of the New York primary on June 20, some candidate may even have the "momentum" to gather the 1,509 delegates needed to win before the convention. It's still a live possibility.

Then, by convention time, commentators will complain about coronation ceremony and about how dull and listless conventions have become. Then the chorus will offer the refrain, "There MUST be a better way."

Chiang Kai-shek Elected To Fifth Term of Office

TAIPEI (UPI) — Chiang Kai-shek was elected to his fifth six-year term as president of Nationalist China today by a nearly unanimous vote of the national assembly.

Chiang, 84, received 1,308 votes of the 1,316 cast by assembly members. Eight ballots were declared invalid because they were blank or marked.

Chiang ran unopposed. His running mate, Vice President C. K. Yen, was expected to be re-elected by the assembly in separate voting Wednesday.

Under the Nationalist Chinese constitution, the president and vice president are elected by the assembly instead of by popular vote.

Government agency employees set off firecrackers to celebrate the vote. Dragon and lion dances, torch parades and other celebrations were scheduled later in the day. The government announced that leaflets would be dropped from planes throughout Taiwan to announce Chiang's continuation as president, a job he has held for the past 25 years. Chiang will be more than 90 by the time his next term expires in May 1978.

Earlier this year Chiang announced he planned to step aside in favor of a younger man, but the leadership of his ruling Kuomintang party election impossible until Nationalist China "recovers" the mainland from Communist rule.

Chiang and — presumably — Yen will be sworn in May 20. The national assembly members, elected 25 years ago, have demonstrated their unreserved support for Chiang and Yen since the current session began Feb. 20.

The members apparently will serve indefinitely since the assembly itself amended the

Fire Destroys Area Building

SHANDAKEN
 Fire of undetermined origin this morning completely gutted a 5-room frame house on Fox Hollow Road at Route 28 in this community owned by Lowell Robert Dutcher.

The fire was reported to Ulster County Mutual Aid at 4:55 a. m. and Shandaken Fire Department in command of Chief Albert Peck responded. On arrival firefighters found the building enveloped in flames. Phenicia Fire Company was called in to assist.

Dutcher said later that the house had been leased to Jay Shankman of New York City, and it had been used as living quarters for skiers during the season. The house was vacant at the time the fire erupted. It had been occupied last weekend.

The owner estimated that the cost of rebuilding the house would be in the neighborhood of $15,000.

Area Students Slate Program

KINGSTON
 A group of young playwrights and actors, all of them students at Ulster Academy, will present a dramatic anthology of their work at Temple Emanuel in Kingston Wednesday, March 22, at 8 p.m.

The performance, called "Good Morning—Good Afternoon," will be in a theater-in-the-round setting and will consist of short skits, dialogues, and pantomimes written and enacted by Academy students.

The performance is open to the public and free of charge. Art work done by Ulster Academy students will be on display for viewing after the performance.

Dinner Plans

Plans are nearly complete for the St. Francis Hospital Development Fund Campaign's Community Dinner, to be held Wednesday, March 22, according to Francis X. Conger, committee spokesman. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale will be the speaker at the dinner, to be held in the Daystrom Building.

Ulster Man Killed in Fall From Ladder

TOWN OF ULSTER
 Charles Field, 71, of 42 Esopus Avenue, was killed this morning when he fell from an extension ladder at his home.

Fatum's Ambulance responded to the call and took Field to Kingston Hospital where he was pronounced dead at 9:50 a.m. Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser has issued a ruling of accidental death.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany Avenue.

PUBLIC HEARING

The Laws and Rules Committee of the Common Council of the City of Kingston, New York, will hold a Public Hearing on Wednesday, March 22, 1972, at 7:30 p.m. in the Common Council Chambers, City Hall, 408 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y., to consider the following proposed amendment to the City of Kingston Zoning Ordinance and Map:

To re-zone a tract of land known and designated as the tax map of the City of Kingston, N. Y. as 16-22 Flatbush Avenue and 386-388 Albany Avenue, within such portions thereof as are designated S-2 changing such designation to C-3 zone.

DONALD E. QUICK, Chairman

Laws & Rules Committee
 INVITATION TO BIDDERS
 The City Clerk of the City of Kingston, New York, will receive sealed bids for 3 Voting Machines, at the City Clerk's Office, City Hall, Kingston, New York, until 11:00 A.M. Wednesday, March 22, 1972, at which time all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

All Bids must conform with the following specifications:

Voting Machines shall in every respect comply with Article IX of the New York State Election Law, Chapter 17, of the Consolidated Laws of the City of Kingston, for the purpose for which they are used, with current approval of the Secretary of State. The machines shall contain nine (9) rows of thirty (30) voting levers each for voting for Candidates, thirty (30) devices for voting for persons not nominated, and one (1) horizontal row of voting devices for voting on (15) Constitutional Amendments, Propositions or Questions, or equal capacity for parties, candidates, and questions.

Bidders may submit bid on machines equipped with device or mechanism which provides a printed embossed, or photographic record of candidate counters immediately prior to start of voting and directly after poll close, secured in the presence of the Inspectors of Election at the Polling Place.

The Mayor reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any informalities in bidding.

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING AN ORDINANCE IN RELATION TO TRAFFIC ON THE PUBLIC STREETS OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, NEW YORK.

The Common Council of the City of Kingston, New York does ordain and enact as follows:

Section 1. That Section 3 of Article 4 "STOP SIGNS" is hereby amended by ADDING the following sub-division:

§239—On the northwest corner of First Avenue at the intersection of Hooker Street.

SECTION 2. That Section 6 of Article 4 "NO PARKING" is hereby amended by ADDING the following sub-divisions:

§245—On the easterly side of Jarrold Street, from the intersection of Murray Street to the intersection of Delaware Avenue.

Also that Section 6 of Article 4 "NO PARKING 8 A.M. to 6 P.M." is hereby amended by ADDING the following sub-division:

§246—On Prince Street, on the south side, beginning at a point 171 feet from the southeast corner of the intersection of Flatbush Avenue and continuing in an easterly direction on Prince Street for a distance of 37 feet.

SECTION 3. This Ordinance shall take effect immediately after its passage and publication, and all other Ordinances or parts thereof inconsistent herewith are repealed. Submitted to the Mayor by the City Clerk, the 8th day of March, 1972.

LOUIS F. DE CICCIO, City Clerk
 Approved by the Mayor this 8th day of March, 1972.

FRANCIS R. KOENIG, Mayor

If houses burned at yesterday's prices, yesterday's insurance would be enough.

The problem most homeowners face isn't keeping up with the Joneses. It's keeping up with inflation.

The insurance industry has not simply sat back and watched all this happen. Insurance companies have devised many ingenious safeguards against inflation's havoc.

Utica Mutual has a homeowner's policy that automatically keeps up with a spiraling economy. We call it "Val-U-Guard."

It works like this. If your home cost $15,000 to build in 1960, it could cost $25,500 to replace today.

So if you bought enough insurance to begin with, we can, at a proportioned additional premium, automatically increase your coverage every year to keep up with the cost of replacing your home.

Your Utica Agent knows all about "Val-U-Guard." Call him, he's in the Yellow Pages or write us c/o P.O. Box 530, Utica, N.Y.

Because no matter how up-to-date your house is, the most modern thing you can have in it is the insurance you have on it.

Poison Control Director Lists Several Dangers

KINGSTON parents to keep medicine cabinets away from those for external use when taking or giving medicine. Dr. William E. Askue, director of the Poison Control Center at Kingston Hospital, urges homeowners to search out and destroy the dangers of an accidental poisoning in the home.

Dr. Askue, noting that National Poison Prevention Week began Sunday, and pointed out that 130 children between the ages of one and four were victims of accidental poisonings during 1971. Children in this age group constitute more than half of all cases treated by the Poison Control Center.

"Children are curious," Dr. Askue noted. "They see, touch, and taste medicine on the bedside table, taste drain cleaner left on the floor, or furniture polish left on the table. Look for these dangers and remove the possibility of poisoning."

He noted that 95 per cent of accidental poisonings among children occur when an adult is present in the home, which would indicate that most adults are not aware of the poison potential in most household substances.

Almost every household has at least one and sometimes many bottles or containers of medication that are not needed or used, Dr. Askue said, urging

Animal Cruelty Cases Reported To County SPCA

TOWN OF ULSTER
Several cases of cruelty to animals have been reported by Mrs. Katherine Stoutenburgh, president of the Ulster County SPCA, and they are being checked by officials.

Mrs. Stoutenburgh said that recently three puppies about two months old, were found abandoned along an area highway and they were brought to the SPCA Shelter on Brabant Road. "The puppies were in a starving condition," Mrs. Stoutenburgh noted. "There was practically nothing left of them but skin and bones and they were filthy."

The puppies were cared for at the shelter.

The night the puppies were found, a society shelter employee returned to the facility and found a puppy about three or four months old, with a crushed hind leg and hip lying on a piece of bed sheet. "This puppy was bleeding profusely and would have died from the cold weather or loss of blood if a shelter employee had not found it."

The society president also reported that frequently dogs are found abandoned in outside runs at the shelter, where they apparently are left after being thrown over the high fence by unidentified persons.

Noting that numerous healthy dogs of all breeds are at the shelter waiting for someone to adopt them, Mrs. Stoutenburgh extended an invitation to any resident who would like to have a pet-dog, puppy, cat or kitten, to visit the shelter and select the animal of their choice.

She said there presently are a number of shepherds, a nice husky and a pair of English setters that are available for adoption.

Lecture on Shamanism at UCCC

Joel Bernstein will lecture on "The Experience of Shamanism" at 8 p.m. tonight, in the Student Lounge in VanDerlyn Hall at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College. It is being sponsored by the Student Government Organization at UCCC.

Bernstein emphasizes the necessary relationship of the ceremonial framework to the psychedelic experience—and the structuring effect of the rituals that accompany the experience.

Far from an idle psychedelic experimenter, he is particularly concerned with the time honored and ancient approaches to altering consciousness that have been with mankind for thousands of years.

Shamanism is the oldest "religious" system known for exploring inner space. Dating back to the Stone Age, Shamanistic figures appear among the figures on the walls of the ancient caves of Lascaux and Altamira.

The Shaman is the prototype of the magician and the psychologist—the original explorer of the psyche.

Shamanism also is known for the deep poetry and metaphor that seem to accompany the inner experience.

This lecture will be the third in a series of lectures devoted to "Shamanism." Earlier lectures were given by the distinguished scholar and mythologist, Joseph Campbell, and by Jerome Rothenberg, author of "Technicians of the Sacred."

DR. KURKEN V. KIRK

Dr. Kirk Listed as Speaker

Dr. Kurken V. Kirk, Kingston gynecologist and obstetrician and well known public speaker, will speak on adolescent behavior at the March 27 meeting of the Cairo Parent-Teacher Association.

Dr. Kirk received his training at the Albany Medical Center and graduated from the University of Istanbul Medical School. He is noted for his volunteer work in the field of cancer prevention by early detection and for his lectures to schools and civic groups on the problems of adolescent behavior.

Robert Droppa, P.T.A. president, said the program would begin at 8 p.m. in the Cairo Central School.

Kingston Vols Meet Thursday

KINGSTON

The Kingston Volunteer Firemen's Association will hold their regular meeting Thursday, March 23. The meeting has been moved up one week due to the Holy Thursday.

President Robert Hinkley announced that Weiner Hose Co. will host the meeting and it will be held at the meeting room of Rapid Hose Co., 85 Hone Street, at 8 p.m.

The line officers and delegates of the volunteer fire companies are urged to attend as a report will be given on the progress for a fire training program to be conducted during the next few months.

St. Cabrini's Names New Administrator

WEST PARK

Rosemary A. Sheridan, a social worker with 40 years of administrative, advisory and supervisory experience in the field of child welfare, has been named administrator of St. Cabrini's Home, West Park, a child care residence affiliated with New York Catholic Charities.

Announcement of the appointment was made by Sister M. Cyprian Branco of the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart, acting chairman of St. Cabrini's board of directors.

In her new capacity Miss Sheridan will be responsible for the well being of approximately 135 dependent and neglected children, 75 of whom live at St. Cabrini's West Park facility. The remainder are cared for under the residence's supervision by foster parents, in group homes and in agency-operated boarding homes.

Miss Sheridan, who has trained graduate students of social work and participated on numerous child care boards and committees, will direct the operations of St. Cabrini's 98 man staff skilled in the counseling, educational, recreational, medical and social service needs of children.

Short School Day In Ellenville

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville Central School students will attend school for a half-day session Wednesday, March 22 because of an afternoon teachers' workshop on "Behavior Modification in the School" by two State University College at New Paltz professors.

The professors, Dr. Paul Brown and Dr. Robert Presbie, members of the college's Psychology Department, have recently developed a series of auto-tutorial cassette slide modules for training students, teachers, and parents in the techniques of behavior modification. Elementary school students will be dismissed at 11:30 a.m. and secondary school students at 11:50 a.m. The cafeteria will not operate that day.

Joiners

Kingston Chapter No. 155 Order of Eastern Star will hold its regular stated meeting on Friday evening at the Masonic Temple. The Star degrees will be conferred on a class of candidates. The annual hat sale will also be held. All Stars and Master Masons may attend. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Abby: She Couldn't Care Less!

DEAR ABBY: I'm glad to see that you make mistakes, too. In your column you used the expression, "could care less" to convey indifference. What you meant was "COULDN'T care less."

Just think about it for a minute, and you will realize that if one could care LESS he cares a great deal. And if he COULDN'T care less, he doesn't care at all.

By the way, I could care less about your column. And that's a compliment.

KRISTY IN L. A.

DEAR KRISTY: And I could care less about my choice of words, which is to say I care so MUCH I couldn't care MORE! Thanks to you and Judge Haworth of Calexico, Calif., and all the others who wrote to good-humoredly chew me out—more or less.

DEAR ABBY: I can't tell you how happy and relieved I was when I read that letter in your column from "Dreamer."

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(She was the 41-year-old happily married woman who said she was having an "affair"—strictly mental—with an attractive man of her acquaintance.)

You see, I am a happily married woman, too, and I'm also a "dreamer." I have my favorite fantasies about Dean Martin, Paul Newman and Gregory Peck, and I've always felt a little guilty. I would never cheat on my husband, Abby, and I'd never tell him about these romantic dreams I enjoy secretly.

It was so good to know that there are other women who dream dreams like I do. And I felt a lot better when I read your answer saying it's harmless as long as you don't try to make your dreams come true.

Thanks, Abby. I'll sleep (and dream) a lot better to night.

ANOTHER DREAMER

DEAR DREAMER: Fantasies have always been a part of our lives. They are perfectly normal, and nothing to be ashamed of. Some fantasies serve a very useful purpose. Ask any dreamer.

DEAR ABBY: My son, who is 30 years old, misbehaved while married. (Other women, drinking and beating his wife.)

I know how all this started. His wife refused relations with him after the birth of their third child. I will admit, she went thru a bad time with the pregnancy and delivery, but she demanded more of him than any man could tolerate. My son respected her wishes for two years. Finally he couldn't stand it any longer and he strayed.

His wife found out about it and they had a row. He went out and got drunk and that is when he beat her. She left him promptly and they have been apart for four months.

My son supports her and the children, but he would like to be a family man again. His wife won't let him in the house, and she won't give him a divorce.

Abby, is there something I can do to get them back together again? She will speak to me, but not to my son.

GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: As long as there is no communication between your son and his wife, there is nothing you (or anyone) can do. Urge her to seek counseling. An impartial third party is always far more effective in mediating domestic problems than a member of the family.

DEAR ABBY: For "North and South" the couple whose friends are unpleasant to each other at the bridge table:

My husband and I have had similarly unpleasant experiences with couples who are very compatible UNTIL they become bridge partners. We solved that problem by pretending that WE were tired of playing together as partners. We suggested that the men challenge the women.

Parents' Night Set At Fair Street School

Fair Street Nursery School will hold its second Parent Night of the year, this evening at 8 o'clock at the school.

"Can Your Child See To Learn?" will be the topic under discussion. Dr. Robert S. Weber, an optometrist and father of two students in the school, will be our guest speaker.

Dr. Weber, a graduate of the Massachusetts College of Optometry, will deal specifically with—

● Early stages of vision development

● Signs and symptoms of visual problems for parents and teachers

● How vision and learning are connected

● One town's approach to early detection of visual problems in reading (The Winterhaven, Florida Project)

Dr. Weber was in private practice in Hicksville before coming to Kingston. A member of the Brooklyn and Nassau County Optometric Extension Program, providing up-to-date information on all phases of Optometry, especially children's vision.

State Consumer Affairs Post

Status Plan Suffers Setback

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's plan to give more status to his consumer affairs chief—currently a vacant position—has suffered a setback in the New York State Assembly.

The lower house, with a 71-38 roll call vote Monday gave a resounding thumbs-down to a measure to change the title of the executive director of the Consumer Protection Board to commissioner.

That would give the state's top consumer affairs watchdog the same title as heads of most state agencies—and the same title as the head of New York City's consumer agency.

Debate on the consumer bill extended Monday's Assembly session past 6 p.m. to climax a day which also saw:

—Assembly approval of a bill to drop the requirement that the victim of an alleged sex crime have a corroborating witness or other evidence to back up her charges.

—Rockefeller meeting with legislative leaders to discuss the impasse on approval of a no-fault auto insurance plan which he requested in his "State of the State" message.

—A loud but orderly demonstration on the Capitol steps as hundreds of students voiced their opposition to plans to raise tuition at the State University and to impose tuition at the City University of New York.

—A brief informal ceremony where Assemblywoman Mary Anne Krupak, D-Canajoharie, was presented more than 3,500 petitions by a Oneida taxpayers group seeking changes in the legislative retirement system.

—The governor asking for a bill to authorize the State Power Authority to build generating facilities to supply electricity to the Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

After the Assembly had rejected the consumer protection title bill, Assemblyman Eugene Levy, R-Suffern, used a parliamentary maneuver to keep the bill technically alive. He succeeded in getting the vote reconsidered and wiped out, and tabled the bill.

The bill was part of Rockefeller's consumer affairs legislative program, a package of bills dealing primarily with prescription drugs and consumer debt.

Assemblyman Guy Brewer, D-Queens, charged during the debate that the agency "was never intended to succeed."

Brewer said its first executive director, Betty Furness, "quit in disgust because the governor wouldn't support her." He said her successor, Lou Stone, also had quit, and the post was now vacant.

Levy contended that passage of the bill "would give status to the agency." He denied that it would lead to a pay raise for whoever got the job.

Rockefeller, in asking for the power agency bill, said he wanted to "assist in alleviating the power shortage in the southeastern part of the state."

His memorandum said the Metropolitan Transportation Authority's peak demand "is larger than the combined electric load of the cities of Albany and Syracuse." He added that it makes up about 10 per cent of all the power consumed in the New York City metropolitan area.

The MTA runs the city's subway system and the Long Island Rail Road, among other things.

The Senate approved a bill by Sen. Robert Garcia, D-Bronx, to grant sentenced prisoners in New York City up to three days home leave. This would let them locate jobs, visit their families or undergo medical treatment if authorities approve.

The Assembly approved legislation to drop the requirement that school children be immunized against smallpox. Health officials claim the risk of contracting complications from the immunization is greater than the risk of catching the disease which is under control in all but remote sections of the world.

No-Fault Insurance Meeting ...Nothing Resolved Yet

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller and Sen. Bernard Gordon, R-Peekskill, met with other lawmakers Monday to attempt to settle the current "no-fault" automobile insurance controversy in the New York State Legislature.

Gordon is sponsor of a "no-fault" bill endorsed by Rockefeller. After the meeting, neither would attempt to predict whether some accord could be reached between Gordon and legislators supporting a different form of auto insurance.

Gordon said, "I'm not pulling back on the bill one inch at the moment, but that doesn't mean to say that compromise is not possible."

Republican Senators John Hughes of Syracuse and Thomas Laverne of Rochester have discussed a plan that would permit limited payment to victims without regard to fault, while offering an option to sue.

Gordon said he would not support any bill that would destroy the concept of compensating accident victims on the basis of need rather than fault. His plan would eliminate most negligence lawsuits over accidents. His plan allows suits when medical expenses exceed $5,000 or in other specified instances.

Hughes and Laverne have not introduced a bill. Their aides, however, said enough votes are available to pass such a measure in the Senate. The two were not at the Monday meeting.

Gordon said talks would continue for the rest of the week. He said the Hughes approach is to "retain the tort, or fault-law-suit, system in all cases."

Critics of Gordon's bill argue that it would deprive the victims of their "civil right to sue."

AN OPEN LETTER TO STATE EMPLOYEES

The State says it's broke — and you're the fall guy!

Time is short!
The State administration won't listen to reason. After more than 100 bargaining sessions since last October, Governor Rockefeller's representatives have refused to make one single counter-offer to any of the proposals presented by the Civil Service Employees Association in negotiations for 140,000 State employees across the State. The State administration is negotiating in bad faith! At your expense.

YOUR CONTRACTS EXPIRE MARCH 31, 1972!

Practically all items contained in your contracts — salaries, retirement, health insurance, vacations, and many others are in danger, unless a new contract is reached. It's not just a question of a pay raise — it's everything that means anything to you.

By not negotiating, the State is breaking the law — its own Taylor Law — which calls for "Good Faith" negotiations between State and local governments and the unions representing their employees.

Look at what's going on around us. New York City for example, which is reported to be in extreme financial difficulty, has just recently negotiated big contracts with unions representing more than 100,000 clerical workers, hospital employees, transit men, sanitation men, police, social services workers and others. In good faith.

Hundreds of thousands of federal government employees are getting a raise this year. And what about the contract settlements in private industry involving even more hundreds of thousands of workers across the country? Are we any less deserving?

Do we get a discount at the supermarket? Pay less taxes? The answer is NO. It's hard to swallow, in light of the fact that State employee raises since 1967, combined, have actually resulted in a net increase of only 11% in real purchasing power for these workers. And, out of that 11% had to come recent State and local income tax increases, the boost in Social Security rates, and certain other taxes. What does that leave State Employees? VERY LITTLE!

A reasonable raise and other benefits are justified. It's time that the State administration stopped blaming State employees for its mistakes in spending.

It's time to forget building monuments such as Albany's South Mall and start thinking about people — people like you who work hard to support a family. State employees pay taxes and it costs you the same to live as anyone else. You're not second class citizens — you contribute as much to your local economy as the guy next door. When the question of a pay raise or increased benefits for you comes up, it shouldn't be treated any differently than if you worked in private industry. But the fact is, because you're a State employee — they're trying to make you the fall guy.

The Civil Service Employees Association will continue to try to negotiate down to the wire with the State administration. Our goal is a decent and fair contract — nothing else.

CSEA's delegates are meeting this week at the Concord Hotel in the Catskills. They will discuss the State's refusal to negotiate with us, and may decide on a course of action for State employees at that time.

Remember, it's your livelihood that's at stake. It's up to you to support whatever action your elected delegates take. CSEA will keep you informed.

'Dump Nixon' Urged by Bond

By JON POWERS

STONE RIDGE
"Dump Nixon" was the theme Monday night as black Georgia legislator Julian Bond proposed his own remedy for America's ills before more than 1,000 persons at Ulster County Community College.

Bond's tonic consists primarily of "permanent elimination of Richard Nixon from elected political office."

Admitting that the president is not the only villain, Bond suggested that the Cabinet and the Congress be given the bum's rush too.

In a brief 30 minute speech, Bond touched many of the major political issues that have surfaced this election year, but his most caustic assessments of the prevailing political climate came at the expense of the president.

Nixon, said Bond, is the one who "nominated Carswell and Haynesworth . . . who tolerated murder at Attica, Kent State and Jackson State . . . who appointed John Mitchell . . . who selected the vice president. And who were the people who let him do these things?" he asked. "The Congress of the United States. You ought to check out your congressmen. They may be perfect up here, but if they're not, you ought not check them out, you ought to kick them out."

"It's time we said no to the federal bureau of intimidation, to Nixonomics, to Mitchell's mix ups, to Lockheed's socialism," said Bond, in urging his youthful audience to "influence the selection, nomination and election of a new president, a new Cabinet and a new Congress" in 1972.

It is obvious that, while an activist, Bond is not a revolutionary; he considers politics to be an "honorable profession" and an effective tool that can be used to mold a different set of values for the American system. He has a special concern for America's disenfranchised black citizens, and sees the political arena as the quickest route to equality in reality.

"Politics is what sends our children to Southeast Asia to shoot and to be shot at . . . and politics is what can bring them back home alive . . . Politics is what makes us (the blacks) the last to be hired and the first to be fired . . . and this ought not be the kind of politics we must play."

Bond's game plan is predicated on the defeat of Nixon this November, but he viewed the alternatives with something less than unbounded joy. Of all the candidates he mentioned, he leaned most favorably towards Shirley Chisholm, the black New York City Congresswoman. He said he would vote for McGovern over Muskie and would even cast his ballot for Sen. Henry Jackson before voting for Nixon. "I don't want another four years of this," he said.

Bond said the selection of a new vice-president is less important than a new president and he added "It is no victory at all to have a black, a female or a Jewish vice-president, because he'll always do just what the president says anyway." Bond made history in 1968 when he became the first black nominated for the vice-presidency, but he said he has no presidential aspirations in 1972.

What he would like to see is a coalition of "right thinkers" who exercise the Frederick Douglas premise that "If there is no struggle, there is no progress." As a young articulate and strong-willed leader of a growing army of dissatisfied blacks and youths, Bond has emerged at the head of that struggle.

Police Matters, Leahville Dominate Paltz Meeting

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ
Police matters, which were on the agenda, and the proposed hamlet Leahville, which was on the agenda, dominated the joint meeting of the New Paltz Town and Village Boards, held Monday night in the New Paltz Town Hall.

The police question, brought up by Town Supervisor Anthony J. Moriello, who said there had been some "misunderstanding" and "lack of communication" involved, produced some heated debate between Moriello and Village Trustee John Logan, a police commissioner and head of the village's police committee.

Logan demanded that Moriello sit down and write an answer to the six letters Logan said he had written to Moriello without formal response, and asked Moriello why he hadn't bothered to reply.

Before the meeting, Logan had issued a press release on the letters issue, and said it was a demonstration of "unwillingness to cooperate with the village" on Moriello's part. With the release Logan included his most recent letter to Moriello (the seventh) dated Mar. 18, in which he demanded an answer to the previous six letters, and said Moriello's behavior was "boorish" and "churlish."

At the meeting, Moriello said he had answered them "verbally", and that was the way he conducted most of the town's business as it was more efficient.

Moriello said the town police commission had requested a meeting with the village commissioners to respond to the letters and discuss other matters.

Logan said, as he had said at the last village board meeting, that as far as he was concerned there wasn't going to be any meeting unless he got written response to his letters.

Two of Logan's letters dealt with the issue of cooperation between the two departments, and Logan said he had never received a written assurance from the town that the town department would cooperate with the village department, to match the assurance given by the village.

Moriello said Logan had been given a copy of the departmental regulations for the town, in which it is stated that the town police would assist the village when requested. Logan said he had never been given a copy of the regulations.

Village Trustee O. Lincoln Igou said "it may be a fussy point" but it was a point, that written communication should have a written response; he asked why Moriello didn't just write the letter and get the whole thing settled.

Moriello said he would write a letter to Logan and also send a copy of the departmental regulations to all village board members.

Leahville, which sailed through its public hearing March 13 with virtually no criticism, has aroused the ire of at least some of the citizenry. The developer, Jack Erman of New Paltz, is requesting that a 260-acre tract he has in the town be given hamlet classification under the zoning ordinance. His plans for the tract include the building of 1,200 apartment units, 400 town houses, and 400 single family units by developers over about a 15-year period, each individual proposal being subject to planning board approval.

The residents at the joint meeting demanded another public hearing, saying they were insufficiently informed about the proposal, despite the legal notice and newspaper coverage, before the last one.

Moriello said the legal requirement for a public hearing had been fulfilled, but the town board would hold an informational meeting before they took their vote on the zoning change.

Erman told The Freeman, after the meeting, that he would be willing to hold a private

Runway Approval Requested

NEW YORK (AP) — William J. Ronan, chairman of the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, has called on the Federal Aviation Administration for prompt approval of the expansion of the main runway of Stewart Airport in Orange County.

In a letter to FAA eastern regional director George Gary, Ronan said the expansion is "urgently needed." He said that although "long term planning is necessary, it must not be used to deter vitally needed improvement."

The project calls for extending the main runway of the former U.S. Air Force base from 8,000 to 12,000 feet to allow all classes of jet aircraft to use its facilities.

Orange County officials oppose the plan, contending it will be used to bring the facility one step closer to becoming a commercial jetport to serve the New York City area. They want the project shelved until a master plan development of the entire area around the airfield can be drafted and approved.

County officials plan a public hearing on the environmental impacts of the lengthening next month.

Representative John Dow of Newburgh said Saturday that FAA Administrator John Shaffer has agreed to come to Orange County to discuss the project.

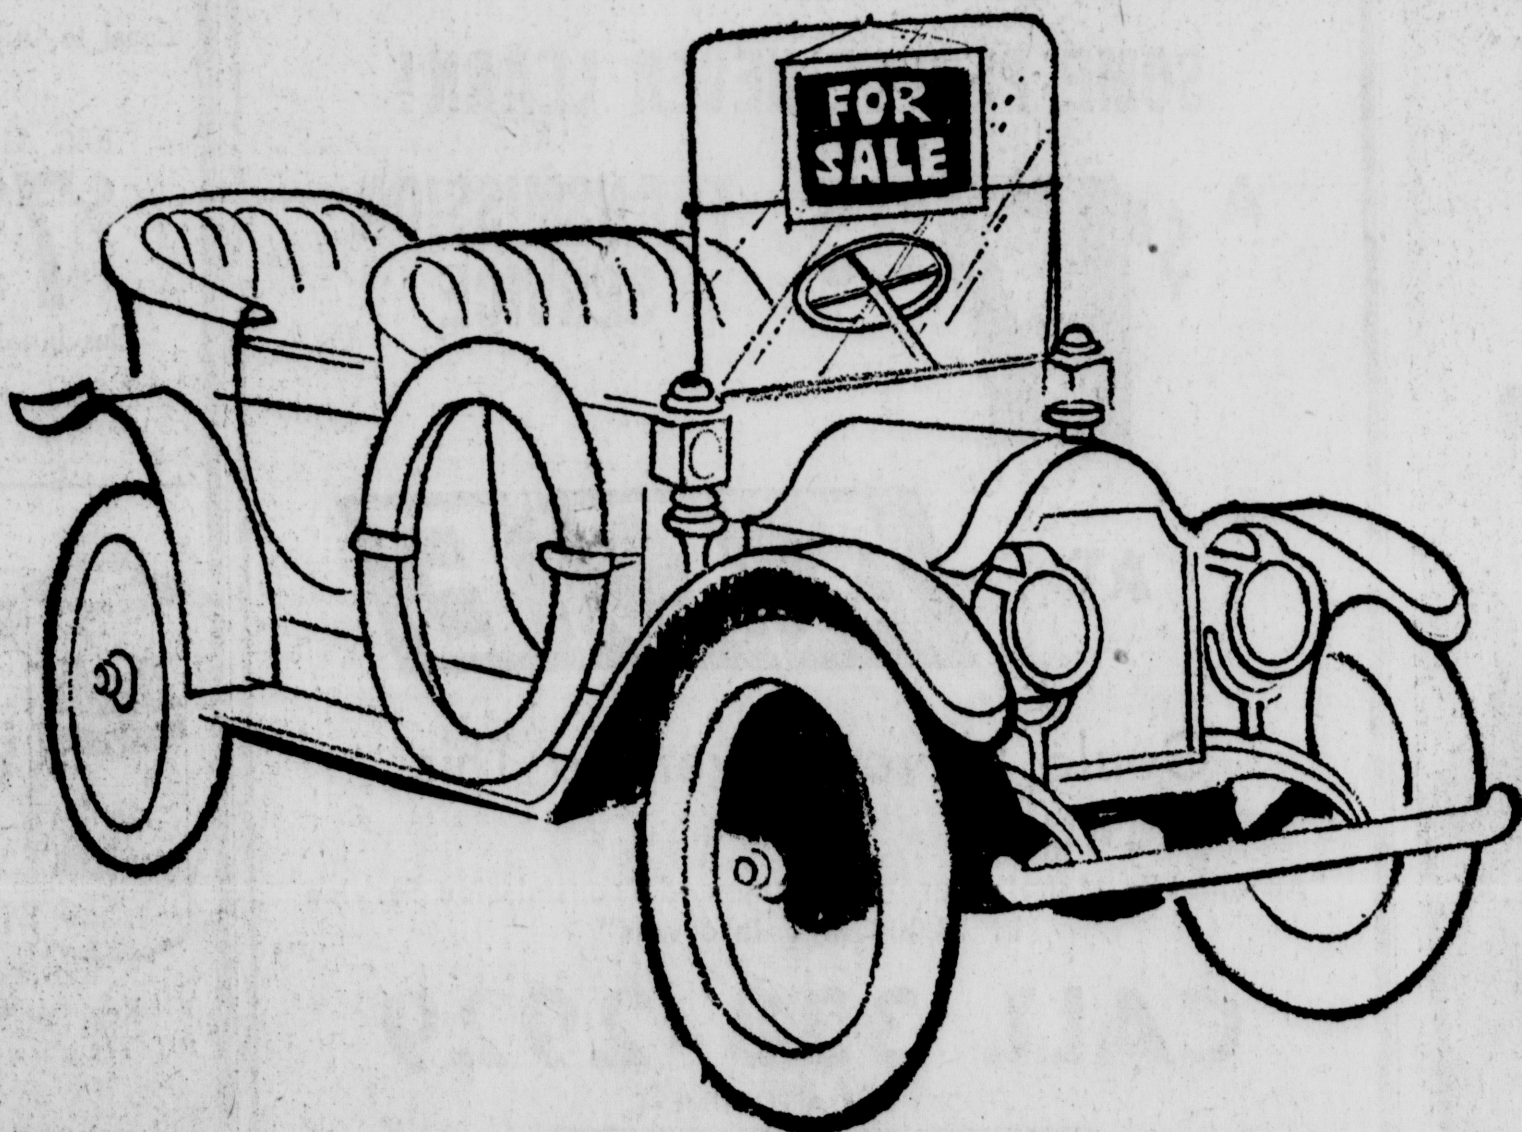

Train Query Unresolved

CHATHAM, N.Y. (AP) — Penn Central Railroad says its passenger service to this community 20 miles south of Troy ended Monday, but the head of the opposing Harlem Valley Transportation Association is waiting to hear from Gov. Rockefeller.

Mrs. Gerald Carson of Chatham, leader of the organization seeking to retain the New York City-Chatham commuter run, said Monday she had appealed to Rockefeller after a federal court decision Friday ruled against the continued service.

New York State had petitioned for a rehearing on Penn Central's decision to stop trains north to Chatham from Dover Plains in Dutchess County. Commuter service will continue to Dover Plains.

Bad Night for the Officials at the Garden

Maryland and Jacksonville Move Into Semis

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jacksonville and Maryland, two very tall teams, are in the semifinals of the 35th annual National Invitation Tournament today because referees have a tendency to be both quick-whistled and sensitive.

The officiating was instrumental in the outcome of both quarter-final games at Madison Square Garden Monday night as Jacksonville trimmed Lafayette, 87-76, and Maryland defeated Syracuse, 71-65. Jacksonville will meet Maryland in Thursday night's semifinals.

Quarter-final action continues tonight with Princeton meeting Niagara and Oral Roberts facing St. John's (N.Y.).

Jacksonville, which was supposed to overpower Lafayette, was pressed to the limit by the smaller Leopards and might have been taken except that Lafayette was called for 30 fouls. That took quite a bit away from the Leopards' game as three of their starters were in foul trouble early in the second half when the game was still in doubt.

"We were not smooth with the ball but we hustled about as much as you could ask for," said Lafayette Coach Tom Davis. "In the second half we weren't as effective. We were doing our best to be aggressive but we looked up at the clock and all of a sudden saw seven fouls against us and only one for them. What can you say?"

Coach Tom Wasdin of Jacksonville, whose team was called 23 times for infractions, had nothing to say about the officiating but praised his club for not losing its poise as it had done in several games earlier in the season.

"The one thing I was happy about was our poise," said Wasdin. "We've lost games like this before. We've been in tight games where the guys would hit a cold spell and then get down on themselves. Tonight we held our chin up."

In the second game, Syracuse shot a dismal 18.4 per cent in the first half, then recovered and gave Maryland, the tourney favorite a battle before succumbing in the waning minutes.

The Orangemen, who trailed 35-20 at halftime, rallied behind the shooting of Greg Kohls to within two points with 1:55 to play and were still trailing by only two points with 54 seconds left when Syracuse Coach Roy Danforth put the crusher on his own team.

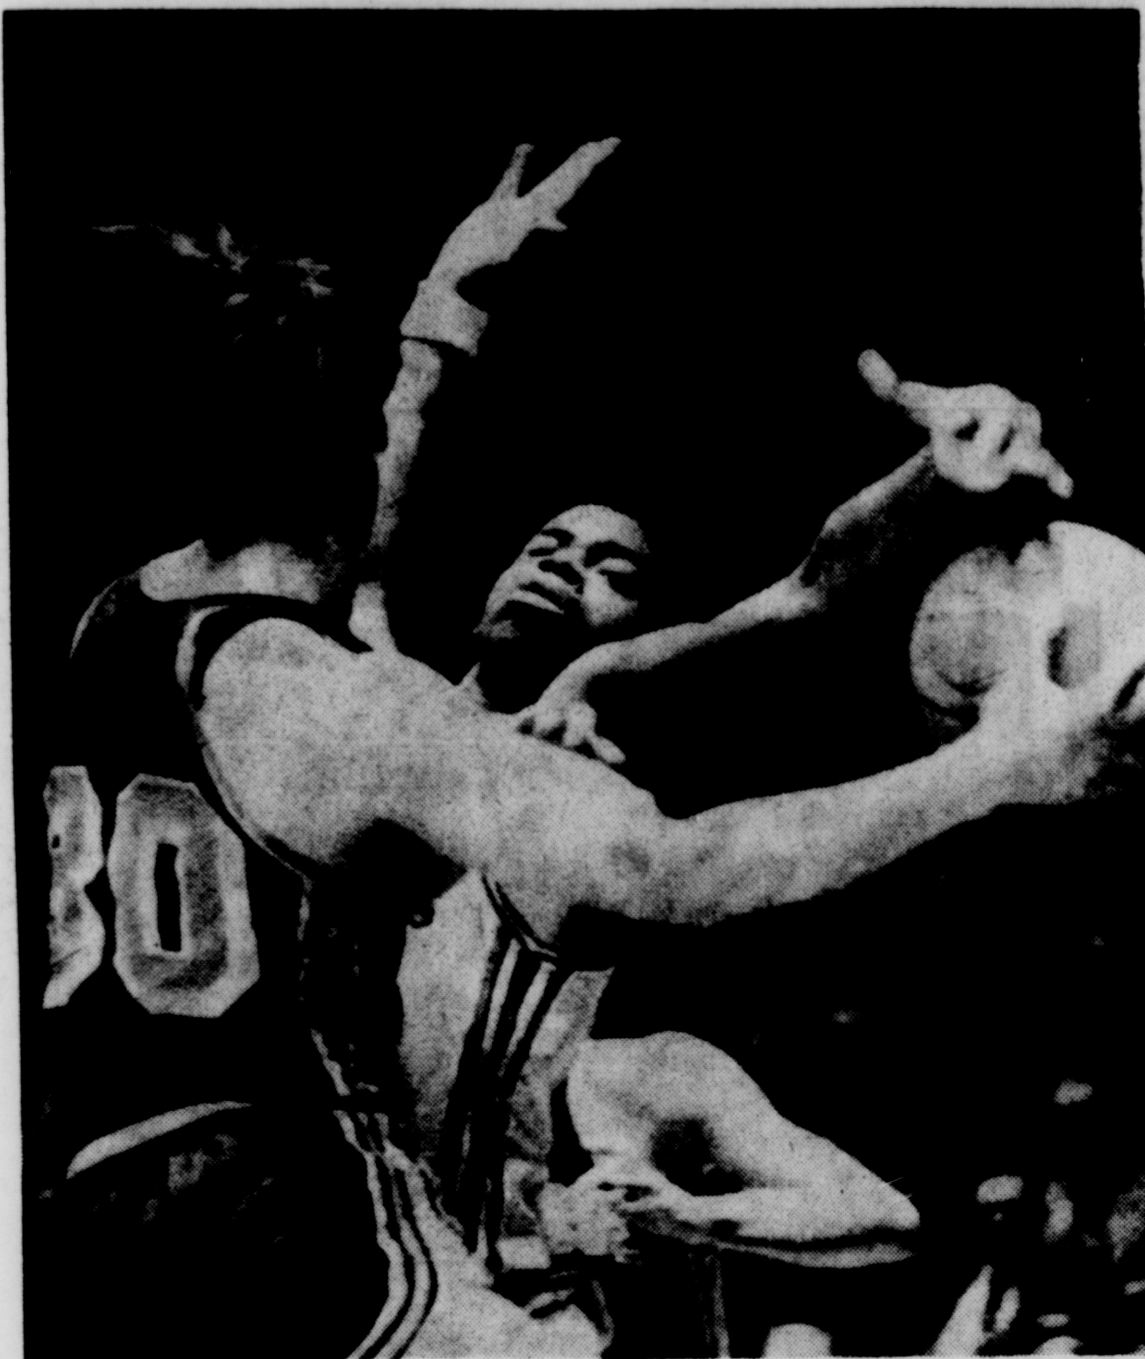

Danforth was hit with a technical foul by Ref Steve Honzo when he complained bitterly over a personal foul against Maryland's Bob Bodell in a scramble for a loose ball. Bodell made both shots of a one-and-one situation, and even though Tom McMillen missed the technical free throw, Maryland was given possession of the ball at midcourt and proceeded to use up most of the remaining time.

Sickler Rally Thwarts Pipers

POUGHKEEPSIE — A Sickler Delivery basketball team that bears a strong resemblance to UCCC, with fine supporting cast, got past Felicello's Pipers of Marlboro 80-65 in the opening round of the 29th annual Poughkeepsie YMCA-Hudson Valley Basketball Tournament Monday night.

The final score is somewhat deceptive. The Pipers, granddaddy of all Hudson Valley tournament teams, stayed within four points of their younger speedier opponents until there was 2:40 left on the clock. A ten-point spree wrapped up the decision for Coach Rich Amato's team.

In the other first round game, Hyde Park Inn jumped to a 24-9 quarter lead against Pleasant Valley Tavern and breezed to an easy 105-60 conquest.

With 3:40 left to play, Billy Gray and John Nottingham hit successive baskets to reduce Sickler's lead to 67-63. But that was the high point of the Pipers' bid for an upset. The Deliverymen ran off 10 straight points to nail down the win.

Henry Nixon launched the spree with a pair of free throws and Ed Strong, former captain at St. Peter's College, hit on a jumper. It was Nixon again and Coleman Link. Then another Nixon deuce and a free throw by Jackie Knowles. Suddenly, it was 77-63 and the ball game was over.

Ulster jumped to a 20-14 first quarter lead but the Pipers held them even in the second period to trail 35-29 at the half. They battled on even terms in the third quarter (20-20) and it was still a ball game until Sickler's final surge.

Strong rimmed 28 points for Sickler's on 13 baskets and a pair of free throws. Wade Pittman, the former NFA whiz by way of Rockland County Community, added 15 and Link had 14. John Nottingham (21) and Billy Gray (19) paced the Pipers.

The Hyde Park-Pleasant Valley game was no contest from the start. The Innmen led 45-24 at the half, then outscored their foes 60-37 after the intermission.

Tom Royce, ex-Dutchess CCC star, led Hyde Park with 19 points. Ed Davis hit 17 and Dennis Motley 16. Richie Moran paced Pleasant Valley with 21.

In Wednesday's round, Nite Cap Restaurant meets Nite Dutchmen at 7:15 p.m., followed by Peekskill DeFranco Lodge and Smith-White Realty at 8:15 p.m.

Sickler's next meet Hyde Park in a semi-final game on March 27 at 7:15 p.m.

NCAA All-American Rating for Murray

KINGSTON — Two weeks ago in the Ohio Conference Championships, Craig Murray, former Kingston High School star has been making quite a splash at Kenyon College, gained All-American recognition in two events in the NCAA College Division Swimming and Diving Championships last weekend at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Va.

Murray, a sophomore at Kenyon, placed eighth in the 165-yard freestyle in a 17:30.4 clocking. He was times in 7:24.37 in the 800 yard freestyle. Kenyon's relay team placed tenth.

Murray just missed a third All-American ranking which is based on times. His clocking of 4:33.53 in the 400-yard individual medley missed by 1.25 seconds of the twelfth place time necessary for All-America status.

The Kenyon team which recently captured the Ohio Conference championship finished eighth in the nationals, which was won by Eastern Michigan University. Eastern Michigan dethroned the University of California at Irvine, which had won championships in 1969, 1970 and 1971.

Kenyon's Rich James broke his won national record in the 200-yard backstroke event with a time of 1:59.58.

Murray holds two all-time records at Kingston High and shares another with Mike O'Hara. He and O'Hara were clocked in 1:49.1 in the 160-yard individual medley. Murray holds the KHS standard in the 200-yard individual medley at 2:12.5 and 100 yard breaststroke of 1:07.9.

He was also a member of the all-time KHS 400 yard freestyle relay team which set the record of 3:40.5 in 1968. It is also a Section 9 record. Other members of the team were Charles Plunket, Andy Jones and Gene Gruner.

Rotary to Host Ulster Cagers

Ulster County Community College's Super Senators basketball team will be honored tomorrow by the Kingston Rotary at a luncheon at the Governor Clinton.

A plaque of appreciation will be presented to the team for their recent participation in the NJCAA basketball tournament in Hutchinson, Kan., and their role as representatives of the Ulster County area.

Among the guests will be Peter J. Savago, representing the County Legislature, and Raymond W. Garragan, chairman of the Board of Trustees at UCCC.

Allen's Y Champs

KINGSTON — With all five players in double figures, Allen's Bus Lines coasted to an 81-59 win over the Church All Stars and completed the YMCA 'A' League season in first place by two full games in the standings over Edgar's.

Ron Thomas connected for 22 points, Jerry Hawkins 17, and Kevin Ross, Don Komosa and Dick Shabot 14 each, as the Busmen posted their ninth victory against a single loss. The All Stars dropped to fifth place with a 2-7 record.

Holding a slim one-point edge after one quarter, the Busmen broke it open to take a 35-24 lead at halftime and added to the margin in the second half.

Final 'A' League standings showed Edgar's in second place with a 7-2 record and The Jug in third with five wins and four losses. Mitch's Shell was fourth with a 4-5 slate, the All Stars fifth, and Boyles AC at 1-9, finished last.

'B' League competition has one game remaining on the schedule, but Van Loan's Restaurant has already locked up first place with an 8-0 record. The KHS Seniors are presently in second at 6-3 with Stulb's Five one-half game back at 5-3.

YMCA is 4-5, Chase & Sanborn is 2-6 and Pink's Haven is 0-8.

Spitz Due At Point

WEST POINT — A star-studded field including James E. Sullivan Award winner Mark Spitz of Indiana and Dave Edgar of Tennessee, the nation's fastest swimmer, will be featured in the 49th annual NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships starting Thursday at the U.S. Military Academy pool.

Indiana U.'s brilliant squad, anchored by double winners Spitz and John Kinsella and triple-winner Gary Hall in 1971, will try for its fifth consecutive collegiate title.

Other swimmers hoping to repeat as champions are Edgar and Brian Job of Stanford. In addition there's Southern California's James Modica and the Trojans' freestyle relay teams which took a pair of firsts in 1971.

In all, swimmers representing more than 100 colleges and universities will be on hand for the event. Time trials are held each afternoon, Thursday through Saturday, with the championship round scheduled nightly at 8 p.m.

Finn Five City's Best

KINGSTON — Sophie Finn's boys' basketball team recently clinched the Kingston City Schools elementary championship by defeating Kennedy in the finals, 41-17. The teams had entered the championship game undefeated with Finn having beaten Brigham, Chambers, and Port Ewen while JFK was knocking off Anna Devine, Meagher, and Lake Katrine.

High scorers for the tournament were Colvin for Finn with 54 points; Van Dyke of JFK with 39; Grimaldi of Washington with 29; Razez of Lake Katrine with 28; Herzog of Lake Katrine with 26; and Ruggeri of Meagher with 26. First names were not reported.

The Curt Flood Case

Court Hears Both Sides

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Curt Flood's treatment by baseball was described before the U.S. Supreme Court Monday as "a hard core violation of anti-trust law" but defended by the clubowners' attorney as necessary to prevent the game from becoming a "shambles."

Former Justice Arthur J. Goldberg told the full court of nine judges that the reserve clause "is a hard core violation of anti-trust law."

"It is a blacklist... Mr. Flood was the victim of a reserve system that violated all anti-trust laws," said Goldberg.

New York attorney Louis L. Haynes, Jr., speaking on behalf of the clubowners, said that if baseball lost the reserve clause and its exemption from anti-trust legislation the game would become a "shambles."

The court took the case under advisement after hearing the one-hour oral arguments and is expected to hand down a written decision on Flood's challenge of the reserve clause before the present term ends in June.

Flood challenged the reserve clause when he refused to report to the Philadelphia Phillies after being traded by the St. Louis Cardinals. He sat out the 1970 season and was traded to the Washington Senators but quit after playing a few games for them in 1971 and took up residence in Europe.

The reserve clause, being challenged for the third time in 50 years, binds a player for life to the team with which he originally signs unless the club trades or sells him. Flood lost his antitrust suit at the Federal District and Appeals Court level but won a hearing by the Supreme Court.

Goldberg contended that Flood had been forced to relinquish his individual rights at the age of 15 when he signed his first baseball contract with the Cincinnati Reds without the help of an attorney.

Justice Byron R. White, a former University of Colorado All-America and pro football player, asked Goldberg if Flood's case wasn't a labor negotiating matter not subject to antitrust intervention.

Goldberg answered that Flood was "treated as a commodity to be bought and sold, not as laborer."

Haynes charged the Major League Players Association, which is supporting Flood in his challenge to the reserve clause, was trying to "subvert" the collective bargaining process by means of litigation.

"The association is trying to seize clout at the bargaining table," said Haynes. "It (baseball) would be a shambles and make impossible and illegal almost any effort to negotiate if Flood wins this case."

Haynes said that baseball is the only sport that calls on an independent arbitrator to handle individual player grievances and that the owners spend vast sums to develop players in the minors—unlike pro football which draws its players from the ranks of established college stars.

Have No Fears...Seaver's OK

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mrs. Joan Payson can stop holding her breath. Her National League baseball franchise, sometimes known as the New York Mets and mostly identified as Tom Seaver, is healthy again.

Mrs. Payson pays Tom Ter-rific $120,000 per season to exercise his right arm for the Mets and when that high-priced limb began aching a couple of weeks ago, it caused no small amount of concern around the club's spring training camp.

Seaver worked four innings of the Mets' 4-3 exhibition loss against Los Angeles and was touched for three runs. He said afterward he was satisfied with the performance since he had not worked in 12 days.

In other spring training games Monday, Detroit downed the New York Yankees 3-1, Philadelphia shut out Kansas City 1-0, St. Louis topped Cincinnati 3-1, Tokyo's Lotte Ori-ans edged San Francisco 2-1, Houston whacked Atlanta 10-5, Montreal downed Texas 6-2, Boston edged the Chicago White Sox 3-2, Oakland outlasted the Chicago Cubs 7-6, San Diego nipped Milwaukee 3-2 and Cleveland jarred California 8-5.

While Seaver was setting Met minds at ease, Don Sutton worked six scoreless innings for Los Angeles, permitting just three hits and striking out six.

Detroit's Joe Coleman, for example, pitched six innings against the Yankees and the first 2-3 were hitless. Rich McKinney managed the only New York hit against Coleman.

Billy Champion and rookie Rick Fusari shared a four-hit shutout as Philadelphia nipped Kansas City. The Phils managed only five hits against Paul Splittorff. Bill Butler and Ted Abernathy.

Rick Wise permitted just one unearned run and four hits in six innings as St. Louis topped Cincinnati.

A name out of big league baseball's past, outfielder George Altman, slammed a two-run homer in the first inning and the visiting Tokyo Lotte Ori-ans beat San Francisco.

Houston exploded for six runs in the sixth inning and jolted Atlanta.

Ron Fairly tagged a three-run homer, helping Montreal whip the Texas Rangers. Ernie McNally worked six innings for the Expos, allowing both Ranger runs and four hits.

Boston scratched out a pair of first inning runs on Tommy Harper's single, a double by Luis Aparicio and two infield outs and edged the White Sox. Wilbur Wood worked seven innings for Chicago, allowing only two hits after the first.

Dwain Anderson and Joe Rudi each had three hits and three runs batted in, leading Oakland past the Chicago Cubs.

Kyle Kirby of San Diego and Jim Lonborg of Milwaukee each hurled six strong innings, allowing one run apiece, and the Padres edged the Brewers.

Derrel Thomas' 10th inning single delivered the deciding run.

Ray Fosse's three-run homer in the eighth inning boosted Cleveland to its victory over Houston—Rice Stadium is the

For Super Bowl

A Return to LA?

HONOLULU (AP) — The Super Bowl VII sweepstakes began today at the National Football League meetings with the strong possibility that the game would be awarded to the city of Los Angeles—the scene of the crime perpetrated against the NFL in 1966.

In 1966, Los Angeles was awarded the first Super Bowl, the much ballyhooed meeting between the Green Bay Packers of the NFL and the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League. But when super Sunday dawned, there were more than 30,000 empty seats in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The lingering distaste left in the mouths of the NFL's owners, however, seems to have diminished during the past five years and heading into today's sessions Los Angeles seemed to have an edge over Houston, Miami, New Orleans and Dallas—rated in that order—in a wide-open race.

Here's the way the race looked at a glance:

Los Angeles—Rozelle discounted the blacking out of the nation's No. 2 television market and past history as major factors, leaving only one strike against the city, the fact the Rams could possibly be in the Super Bowl. But it meets every other prime specification—93,000-seat stadium, warm weather, hotel facilities.

Houston—Rice Stadium is the candidate, and the major factor in its favor is that almost undoubtedly it would be a neutral site. The Oilers don't figure to be in the Super Bowl, and besides the Oilers play in the Astrodome. Weather is warm enough and there are 80,000 seats.

Miami—Has it all—weather, hotels, stadium plus three past successes. But the Dolphins have to be considered Super Bowl contenders, and that could be a major strike.

New Orleans—With neither the weather nor the hotels, New Orleans is a longshot for a second successive hosting, but just might find itself in the running if a deadlock occurs.

Dallas — Biggest strike against the city is the Cowboys, defending Super Bowl champions. If the game were awarded to Dallas, it likely would go to the Cotton Bowl rather than Cowboys' Texas Stadium.

The NFL owners spent most of their time at the opening Monday sessions dealing with constitutional amendments of little general interest. But Commissioner Pete Rozelle said he had cautioned the assembled owners about the sport's "trouble spots."

Injury Sidelines Gilbert

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rod Gilbert of the New York Rangers joined his linemate Jean Ratelle on the sidelines Monday, when club coach and general manager Emile Francis announced that the star winger would be out of action for seven to 10 days because of a strained neck muscle.

Only left winger Vic Hadfield remained healthy from the line that had terrorized enemy goaltenders this season and was on its way to establishing a National Hockey League record for most points in a season before Ratelle suffered a fractured right ankle on March 1. Ratelle will have his cast removed on Friday but isn't expected back until the Stanley Cup Playoffs in April.

Gilbert, who has scored 42 goals and 53 assists to rank fifth in the NHL in scoring (Ratelle and Hadfield are third and fourth), had complained of not being able to move his neck after last night's 5-3 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

It Was Only for Charity

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eleven former world boxing champions donated their services Monday night on behalf of the Philadelphia Association of Retarded Children in a series of memorable exhibition bouts.

Each bout lasted three one-minute rounds. Eight former champs actually fought in the ring, others officiated.

The feature attraction was between two former featherweight champs, Willie Pep and Sandy Saddler, who re-enacted their four title fights in a crisp exhibition of master boxing.

Another well-received bout pitted former light heavyweight champion Harold Johnson against ex-heavyweight contender Danny Baccaroni.

The most entertaining scrap was between former middleweight champs Rocky Graziano and Jake Lamotta, both now turned actors. Both fighters, life-long friends who never actually fought in the ring, displayed some of their old punching prowess, mostly in jest.

There were two rematches of famous TV fights. The first was between ex-welterweight contenders Chuck Devey, a southpaw who was the darling of the TV fight fans of the early 50s. He met Chico Vejar, an opponent who Davey beat twice in the ring.

Officiating was ex-light heavyweight champ Billy Conn, who once almost beat Joe Louis.

Knicks Playoff Dates Set

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Basketball Association released the playoff dates Monday for the New York Knicks-Baltimore Bullets best-of-seven series that opens Friday, March 31.

The two teams will be meeting in post-season action for the fourth consecutive years. The Knicks won in 1963 and their championship year of 1970. Baltimore was the winner in 1971.

Baltimore, as Central Division champion, gets the home court advantage and hosts the opener, New York, runnerup to Boston in the Atlantic Division, on Tuesday, April 4.

The third contest is scheduled for Baltimore, Tuesday, April 4, and the fourth will be played in New York, Thursday, April 6.

If any more games are necessary to complete the series, they will be played in Baltimore, Sunday, April 9, in New York, Tuesday, April 11, and in Baltimore Friday, April 14.

Hurley LL Slates Registration Date

Your Horoscope

Wednesday, March 22

GENERAL TENDENCIES: By being diplomatic and very considerate of members of your family you will be able to avoid the tempestuous, emotional time that could otherwise be your lot today and tonight. Your judgment is not too good so make a point to double-check whatever arises, then you can sidestep some otherwise difficult pathways.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) See what should be done to make your home more comfortably charming as well as add to the harmony existing there now. You have to use a new method if you want to start an uptrend in some important outlet. Get busy early.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Some discussion is necessary with associates if you want to get those new methods operating efficiently. become more successful. Much care in driving is necessary, as well as more courtesy toward others now. Think.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you talk over some monetary matters of importance with a financial wizard or banker, you can handle them with true efficiency. You have taken on some heavy responsibilities that now seem to be too much for you, but this is not so. Keep busy and all is okay.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Aug. 21) Good friends are in a most emotional mood, so handle them with real care now. Show you are most thoughtful of them. Take those health treatments that are really good and time tested.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have to get much work done before you can go out for amusements, so get an early start on them. Confiding in others could result in the loss of good ideas and much cash. Try to be as secretive as possible today and tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have to approach that bigwig who can help you gain your aims in a gingerly manner and then you get the right results. Avoid group affairs that are not apt to go very well now. Do some reading, relaxing.

LIBRA (Sep. 23 to Oct. 22) Follow the ideas of higher-ups more if you want to get your business duties handled well, and with less trouble, work. Obey every regulation that applies to you solely. Don't argue so much.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) New information has cropped up that can be somewhat alarming to you, but by sleeping over it, you find it provides opportunities to advance. Don't permit a new contact to lead you pell-mell into something you are not sure of.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get obligations ahead of you handled with speed so you free more time for hobbies and other activities you like. Mate is irritable, so hold your temper and give a chance to relax. Show helpfulness, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Being more cooperative with an associate gives you an opportunity to understand ideas better and then you can work together happily. You have to be exact where some public duties are concerned. Think logically.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Procrastinating will never get that work ahead of you done, so roll up your sleeves and get it out of the way now. Reap the benefits soon. Rest tonight instead of gadding about and wasting energy foolishly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Taking chances with new types of pleasure you know nothing about could lead to something dangerous, so stick to the tried and true. Get more work done on that hobby that pleases you. Stay within your budget.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those highly emotional young people, which is fine, provided this quality is channeled in the right directions, otherwise there can be little success in this chart, so give the right ethical training, diet and education necessary early, your life is largely up to YOU! and slant toward business or highly artistic lines for best results. Eradicate martyr complex while young through kindness and understanding. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SCHOOL SUM-UP: (Q) I don't agree with your answer to the girl who said she hated school. I have just finished high school. You should visit one for a week. No matter what you do, if the teacher doesn't like it, he yells at you. Then the teacher sends you to the principal. The principal sides with the teacher. The teacher is always right.

The kids in my class were awful to me. They teased me, called me names, and tried to get me into trouble. I had no one to talk to—no friends. The counselors were too busy with the honor students to talk to me.

I stayed home as much as possible. Going to school made me feel inferior. The only thing the kids at my school learned was to lie, steal, cheat and make other people miserable.

They didn't learn to read, write or spell. That is what is wrong with schools now. They spend too much time on extra activities—not on what they should be doing. The homework is mostly busy work.

I thank God I am out of school. But I don't have a job and can't get one. I wish I could.—A Girl Graduate in Pennsylvania

(A) Your letter tells me two things. First is a fact that stands out strongly in letters I get from all over the country. We have too little concern and respect for each other.

This seems to be too true too often, not only of teachers and students, but of other people of all kinds and ages.

Until we wake up and start respecting each other and being concerned with each other, we are going to keep on being in trouble.

The second thing your letter tells me is that in the basics you did not get a hopeless education.

You did misspell a few words (they have been corrected). But your grammar is good and so is your typing.

Most important, your letter shows you have learned to think, and to say simply, clearly and forcefully what you think. That is a lot. It is something you can build upon. I hope you will build positively rather than negatively.

(Jean Adams has quick, mini answers for the following problems: How to Forget a Boy or Girl, How to Attract a Boy or Girl, Interracial Dating and Marriage, Traits Boys Like Most in Girls, Traits Girls Like Most in Boys. For one free mini answer, write to Jean Adams, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Say which answer you want. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope can be answered.)

"Try the other local channel. Maybe they'll give a warmer weather prediction!"

WHY WE SAY

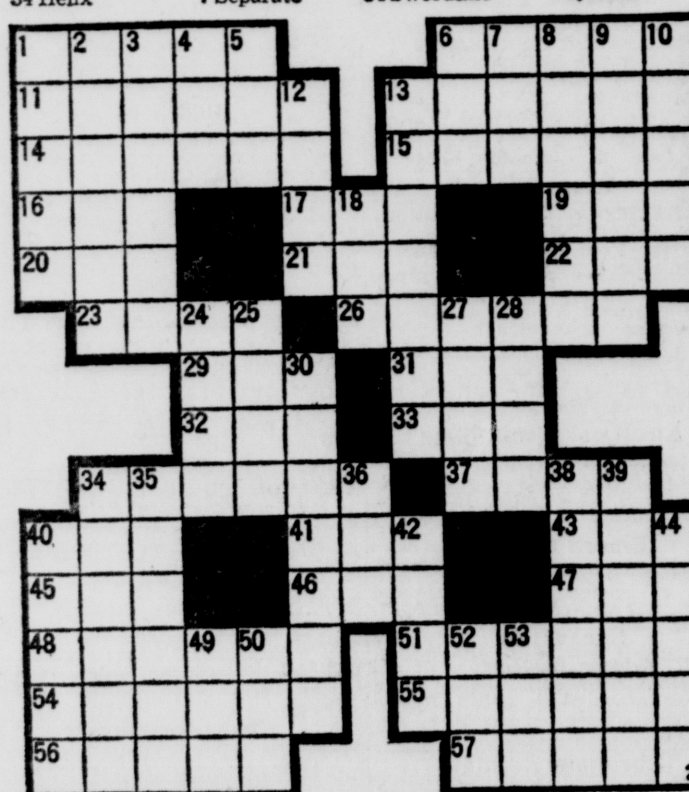

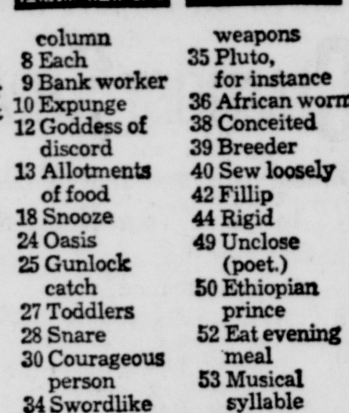

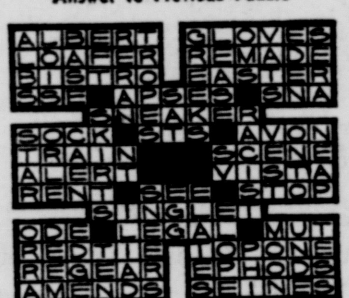

BONFIRE: A bonfire today can be a thing of beauty. But the word itself is far from that. Bonfire actually means bone fire. It was so named in 16th-century England because many bones were burned in large fires.

Kennedy Criticizes Presidential Move

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., believes President Nixon "duped" the American people and moved the country back toward segregated schools when he advanced his plan to ease forced busing of school children.

Kennedy, in a Senate speech Monday, denounced Nixon's call for a moratorium on new busing plans and expenditure of $2.5 billion to upgrade inferior schools. Kennedy said he was against "indiscriminate busing that risks the health of children."

"But I also recognize that in many situations busing has been and still is the only possible device to end outright segregation and discrimination in the public schools of local communities," Kennedy said.

Kennedy predicted Nixon's plan would "perpetuate segregated educational systems where they continue to exist and permit to those districts who have tried to desegregate the forlorn hope that they too might return to the separate but equal system of the past—a system which while separate had never been equal."

Kennedy said Nixon "duped the American public" because the President implied he was proposing to add $2.5 billion in new funds to improve inferior schools when he was really talking about $1.5 billion which Congress has already approved.

Despite the criticism, Nixon's plan appeared to have strong support in Congress. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has endorsed it and called for prompt passage. House Speaker Carl Albert also has called for swift action.

Risks Heavy in Illinois

CHICAGO (UPI)—The nation's third 1972 primary—Illinois—today posed heavy risks to the presidential hopes of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and the power of one of the last of the Democratic kingmakers, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The battle of three Democratic presidential contenders—Muskie, Sen. George S. McGovern and former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy—was matched by a spirited fight over who will stand for governor for the Democrats and a Chicago free-for-all over the office of state's attorney. Daley's prestige was on the line in both races.

The combination of these races and Illinois' first presidential primary of significance was expected to bring out a near-record vote of more than 2 million, despite the threat of thundershowers in many areas. The voting lasts from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. CST.

Muskie's task was to rebound from his unimpressive win in New Hampshire and his distant fourth-place finish behind Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in Florida.

Muskie must pull a significant number of the national convention delegates at stake from McGovern, who is his major opposition in Illinois' first election of delegates in a primary.

And he must look formidable against McCarthy, the former Minnesota senator who is making Illinois' separate, non-binding preferential primary the first real test of his pulling power since he shook the Democratic party in 1968. McGovern passed up the preferential contest.

Results of the Muskie-McCarthy faceoff are likely to be known tonight. An accurate delegate count may take days—and about half of those elected are expected to be "uncommitted," meaning committed to Daley's eventual choice.

Daley is more likely to be worrying about other things tonight. He has put his bets on Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, a onetime party rebel now opposing all-out rebel Daniel Walker for governor, and on Raymond Berg, a former chief Traffic Court judge Daley slated for state's attorney after he had already endorsed incumbent Edward V. Hanrahan.

Will the Real Memo Please Stand Up?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The complex ITT controversy began with one memo from a lobbyist for the company. Today the case involved three different memos—or maybe three versions of the same memo.

The new twist in the complicated case developed Monday when International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. released a second memo—a lengthy statement which it said proved that columnist Jack Anderson's charges against it were based on a fraudulent document.

Anderson initiated the flap last month when he uncovered what he said was a memo written by ITT lobbyist Dita D. Beard in which she linked an ITT offer to subsidize the GOP National Convention in San Diego this summer to a favorable settlement of a big antitrust suit by the government against ITT.

The third memo also surfaced Monday when a former ITT secretary said she remembered a memo containing parts similar to Anderson's memo, but did not recall other paragraphs quoted by the columnist.

The antitrust suit was settled later with ITT being allowed to keep Hartford Fire Insurance Co. as one of its holdings, although it had to divest several other subsidiaries.

Mrs. Beard later called Anderson's memo a hoax, and ITT on Monday sent the Senate Judiciary Committee a second memo which it labeled "the genuine Beard memorandum."

This second memo was dated June 25—the same date as the Anderson version; but it appeared to be a job description by Mrs. Beard to her boss, with a brief reference to the fact that she was working on negotiations to have part of the convention held on "ITT properties in San Diego."

And then ITT released information which seemed to indicate that there was yet a third memo.

It gave the judiciary panel an affidavit from Mrs. Susan Lichtman, who for six weeks last spring worked as a secretary to Mrs. Beard in ITT's Washington office. In her sworn statement she said she had typed most of Mrs. Beard's memos and while she did not recognize Anderson's version as one she typed "I definitely recall typing a memorandum containing some of the passages in the first and second paragraphs and the first part of the third paragraph" in Anderson's version.

Those paragraphs dealt with the convention and ITT's commitment of $400,000.
